MOLLOY WORKERS OFFER HELP TO PHONE STRIKERS

MISS LILLIAN RICH

Of more than 600 girls employed in the toll exchange, Miss Rich was the only one to answer the strike call. She is shown here in front of the Milk street building being admonished by a policeman against interfering with the non-strikers.

TIKHON POISONED, ASSERT NEWSPAPERS

Riga, June 26 (AP)—According to newspapers here Archbishop Tikhon, former Patriarch of all Russia, died in prison June 16.

(This is the date given in Moscow despatches on which the Patriarch addresses a letter to the Supreme Court abjuring anti-Soviet tendencies. The Moscow Soviet officials say he has since been released.)

The Baltic newspaper advices, said to have been received from Moscow, that Archbishop Tikhon died in jail, charge his death was the result of poison.

AN ACKNOWLEDGMENT

At the end of the first day of the strike of a small minority of telephone operators, the management of the Telephone Company wishes publicly to thank those operators who reported for duty yesterday.

We are also grateful to the many former operators, some of them housewives and mothers, who are coming forward in this emergency and placing their talent at the disposal of the company and the public. This appreciation extends also to the hundreds of willing though inexperienced young women who are enrolling at our employment offices in the great public service of telephone communication.

The management also wishes most heartily to express appreciation to the telephone-using public for the consideration and support it is showing in this situation. Every mail brings gratifying assurances that subscribers are convinced of the soundness of our position on this issue, and expressing the desire to cooperate with us in every possible way.

Where it is necessary to train new operators to do the work of those who went on strike the task is being carried on as rapidly as possible, and we bespeak the patience of all telephone users with these new employees until they are more experienced.

TONS OF ROTTEN FOOD ARE SEIZED

Boston markets are flooded with bad vegetables and meats.

Within the last three days inspectors from the health department, acting under orders from Health Commissioner Francis X. Mahoney, have seized and destroyed the following foodstuffs:

9,260 pounds of veal.
Several hundred lobsters.
Tons of rotting vegetables.

All of which would have been of-

DEMAND U. S. SEIZE LINERS WITH LIQUOR

Washington, June 27.—Seizure by the United States of foreign vessels bringing in liquor in violation of the Supreme Court decision and treasury regulations is understood to have been considered in conference today between treasury and prohibition officials.

Thus far there has been no attempt to do more than confiscate the liquor itself, but some officials in the conference are understood to have urged more drastic steps be adopted.

New York, June 27.—The French liner Paris departed today with 12,000 pints of wine, beer and spirits left her as medical supplies, but her officers said none would be served to hale and hearty passengers.

The Olympic and Chicago arrived today with liquor supplies for their return voyage under seals of the British and French governments.

BIG METAL SLAB FALLS; HITS MAN

Girls in Near-Panic; Autos Damaged by Drop of Coping in Kilby Street

A twenty-foot slab of metal coping was blown from the front of a four-story office building into Kilby street today, almost killed a pedestrian, narrowly missed wrecking two parked automobiles and caused a near panic among a dozen or more office girls hurrying to work.

The accident occurred without warning as the financial district was filling with its thousands of office bound toilers.

Robert Hill, sixty-nine years old, of No. 726½ Shawmut avenue, South End, was felled and is believed to have a fractured skull.

He is at the Relief hospital and due to his age little hope is held for

2 FACTIONS MAY JOIN RANKS

Members of the Old Union Declare, However, They Will Not Join the Walkout

Washington, June 27 (I.N.S.).—The government today took a hand in the New England telephone strike when the Department of Labor ordered Anna Weinstock, a commissioner of conciliation, to Boston to attempt to bring about a settlement. Miss Weinstock settled the New York clothing workers' strike and had been successful in many recent disputes involving women workers. John Colpys, another conciliator, will be ordered to New England.

There is possibility—even a probability—that the two warring unions of telephone operators may join ranks again within twenty-four hours.

It is known that Miss Julia O'Connor, head of the union behind the strike, has been in communication with Miss Annie Molloy, head of the union which opposes the strike.

Neither will comment upon the letters which were exchanged, but a statement came from Miss Loretta

ARREST IN PHONE STRIKE

The first arrest in connection with the telephone strike was made today when Frank Oneto of Hull street, North End, was taken in custody for loitering. He was fined $10 in Central Court. Oneto was one of a group of youths that had been annoying the pickets at the Richmond exchange. The men were ordered to move by an officer, but Oneto failed to obey.

U. S. PLANE GOES UP TO STAY IN AIR 4 DAYS AND 4 NIGHTS

ARMY FLIERS OUT TO BREAK OVER DOZEN RECORDS

San Diego, Cal., June 27 (A.P.)—Captain Lowell H. Smith, American premier forestry patrol flyer, and his noted wingmate, Lieutenant John B. Richter, took off from Rockwell Field at 4:43:43 2.5 o'clock today in a De Haviland plane, in which they hope to remain aloft for four days and four nights.

They seek also to break or establish twelve aerial records, among them an endurance record, which they hope to attain by re-fueling in midair.

Aviators say that if successful, it means a fast airplane of limited fuel capacity can take off at New York and by re-fueling in mid-air, reach the Pacific coast in less than 18 hours.

Should Smith and Richter remain aloft sixty hours they probably will have traveled 2,000 miles farther than did Lieutenants Kelly and Macready in their non-stop transcontinental flight.

AIM AT NEW RECORDS.

The records sought are those for distance, for duration and for speed over 2,000, 2,500, 3,000, 3,500 and 4,000 kilometers.

The officers also hope to establish speed records for 4,500, 5,000, 5,500, 6,000, 6,500 and 7,000 kilometers. No airman has been in the wing long enough to establish a speed record for 4,500 kilometers, for no airplane has sufficient gasoline capacity to carry it such a distance.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, should Smith and Richter still be on the wing, they will signal for supplies when needed.

Officials of the National Aeronautical Association and the Federation Aeronautique Internationale will supervise the flight.

The three pylons, during the hours of darkness, will be brilliantly illuminated by electric searchlights, so Smith and Richter may quickly pick up the turning points.

REFUELING STUNT.

The first serious trial will come today when Lieutenants Frank Seifert and Virgil Hines will go aloft to refuel the Smith-Richter plane. Fifty gallons of gasoline will be poured through a hose, one and one-half inches in diameter, while the planes are racing more than eighty-five miles an hour with their wing tips but thirty-five or forty feet apart.

Captain Smith, a Californian, during the war was assistant in charge of training at Kelley Field, Tex., and later a member of a Handley-Page bombing group in England. In October, 1919, he won the race from San Francisco to New York and return in fifty-four hours' flying time. He holds the speed record of four hours and six minutes for the flight from San Francisco to San Diego.

Lieutenant Richter, a native of Virginia, received his training at British and French schools during the early part of the war and was one of the American flyers sent to the war zone.

FLOOD OF BAD FOOD IN CITY

fered for sale to the Boston public by disreputable commission men.

In the market district are a dozen inspectors watching every shipment that comes into the city. So bad were conditions found that the original staff of men sent into the market was doubled.

"We are investigating and intend to clean up before we cease," said Dr. Patrick H. Mullowney, deputy health commissioner, today.

At the health offices today it was said a Roxbury soda water manufacturer would be haled into court for illegally using saccharin in place of sugar and artificial coloring matter in pop.

Saccharin is a coal tar product with no food value and little in its favor excepting its cheapness as compared with sugar.

The veal seized was of the best quality but had become tainted during the recent hot spell. It should have been discarded immediately by dealers who knew its condition, but health inspectors found it on the market ready for sale.

Lobsters shipped alive from Nova Scotia had died in transit. Dealers with more thought for their profits than the public's health boiled them and were about to offer them for sale when seizure was made. A lobster should be boiled while alive to be palatable.

Ruin to the vegetables came during the torrid spell.

Complaints of off-color conditions in the markets reached the health department on June 6. Investigation followed.

Harding in Golf Play With Three Other Presidents

Salt Lake City, Utah, June 27 (I.)—Four presidents matched their skill at golf at the Country Club here.

Warren G. Harding, President of the United States, with Heber J. Grant, president of the Mormon Church as his partner, defeated the presidents of two golf clubs. They were L. C. Miller of the Country Club and J. H. Johnson of the Bon Neville Club. The score was 1 up in 12 holes.

The game was played on a course that was formerly the bottom of a great lake, with canyons and plateaus comprising what are now the playgrounds of Salt Lake City people.

FEAR TWO BOYS IN CANOE WERE LOST IN SQUALL

Drownings in New England Waters This Year

Salt Water	8
Fresh Water	30
Total	38

Two boy canoeists are believed lost in a squall off Little Brewster's Island.

Sailors on the steam launch of Carl Adams, vice-president of the Narrow Gauge railroad, saw the youths paddling through the surging waves. The steam launch put in to one of the islands, but the canoe kept on its way up the harbor.

After the storm had passed over the crew of the steam launch cruised round the harbor, but could find no trace of the boys or the canoe.

Allen Greenough

Allen Greenough, nine-year-old son of Mr. Fred R. Greenough and Mrs. Mary C. Greenough of No. 77 Torrey street, Dorchester, was drowned at Tenean Beach Dorchester, when he slipped into a twenty-foot declivity near the shore and sank before assistance could be summoned.

James M. McGee, eleven years old, and Charles McGee, nine years old, both sons of Mr. and Mrs. John McGee of No. 74 Torrey street who were with the boy at the time of the accident, told the police the boy, who was a poor swimmer, was wading about ten yards in front of them when he suddenly sank out of sight.

The body's body was recovered today.

ASKS HELP IN VAIN.

James McGee

The younger McGee ran back to the shore and cried to a group of boys in bathing suits: "Help, help! A boy is drowning out there." He says that they laughed, but finally one dove in vain for the boy.

Charles McGee

Young Greenough, besides his parents, is survived by two brothers and a sister. They are Robert, eleven years old; Ralph, six years old, and Rebecca, seven years old. He attended the Whittier School, where he was entering the fourth grade.

IN MILL POND.

Joseph Jankowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jankowski, of Green street, Clinton, was drowned while swimming in a mill pond above the Lancaster Mills. Efforts to revive the boy with pulmotors failed.

Alva Sturtevant of Bristol, N. H., was drowned while bathing with other boys in the Merrimac River. He could not swim and went beyond his depth.

Morton R. Cann, twelve years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cann of Springfield, Mass., lost his life while bathing in Pawtucket Cove, near Providence.

GEN. PATRICK AT 60 PASSES AIR TESTS

Washington, June 27.—Major-General Mason M. Patrick, sixty-year-old commander of the army air service, did a series of nose dives, spirals, spins and loops over Bolling Field and qualified as a full-fledged airplane pilot.

General Patrick

General Patrick, formerly was an engineer officer. He entered upon his present duties in 1921, and several months ago began taking flying instructions to make himself proficient in the air service from the top downward.

New York—An estate of $1,270,781, all in stock of the New York Times of which he was editor for years, was left by Charles Ransom Miller, according to a tax appraisal. Mr. Miller died July 18, 1922. The estate will be divided between his son, Hoyt Miller, and his daughter Miss Madge D. Miller.

Budget System for Passengers on 'Wet' Ships

London, June 27 (I.N.S.).—Efficiency of a budget is to be introduced in drinking on American-bound liners of the White Star Line as a result of the controversy over the American Supreme Court's dry ship decision.

Documents are now being issued by the White Star Line to prospective passengers regarding the amount of beverage liquor they desire to consume between the time the vessels leave Great Britain and reach American territorial waters at the three-mile limit.

Came a sharp report like a pistol shot. Several more followed. There was an acrid smell of powder smoke.

Realizing there were enough firecrackers thereabouts to blow him to pieces, Morey seized the exploding barrel and tossed it out of the entry to the street.

An excited passerby turned in a fire alarm.

John Lyons of No. 135 Campbell street, Revere, also an employe of the novelty house, grasped a fire bucket and poured water over the barrel.

Meantime the noise and clamor of fire apparatus drew a crowd of several thousand persons, thereby causing a traffic jam that lasted for some minutes.

No one was hurt. The damage was less than $10.

$4000 ROBBERY IN COOLIDGE CORNER HOME

Burglars entered the home of Mrs. Fannie Aaronson, No. 17 Stearns road, in the Coolidge Corner section of Brookline during the absence of the family, and got away with jewelry valued at $4,000.

The apartment was unoccupied. The housebreakers leisurely ransacked every room in the house. Mrs. Aaronson had gone out for a drive. When she returned she found that the front door of her apartment, which is on the third floor, had been forced open.

Among the things stolen was a diamond bar pin, valued at $2,500; solitaire ring, $250; platinum chain with pearls, $50; bracelet set with sapphires and diamond, $250; several vanity cases, two beaded bags and a small bank containing a trifling sum.

Several hundred dollars' worth of wearing apparel was left intact because the burglars were unable to force open the doors of the clothes closet. Silverware was left, probably because of its bulk and weight.

The loss was partly covered by insurance.

league, from nearly every State in the Union.

League officials said they would not insist that the political parties put prohibition enforcement into the platforms, but that they would insist no party include an anti-prohibition plank.

The conference deliberations, it was announced, have special reference to the political campaign of 1924 for presidential and congressional nominations.

Outside of undertaking to obtain passage of a law by the New York assembly giving municipalities the right to pass ordinances prohibiting liquor traffic and providing for municipal enforcement, nothing will be done in New York state, it was announced.

An effort will be made, however, to elect an assembly next time which will regard with favor re-enactment of a state enforcement law and a governor who will look upon such a law with favor.

"Heaven Wide Open"
She Defines True Love
Dempsey's Chopping Block
Making Nations Hate Us

—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright, 1923, by Star Company)

JANE ADDAMS, ill in Japan, must undergo a serious operation. This is alarming news for millions that know the work Miss Addams has done, and the example she has set before the world—even more valuable than her work.

Max Hart at 24th street and Michigan avenue, Chicago, lunching with his brother, Harry, said yesterday: "Everybody hopes Miss Addams will live to be a hundred. But you should republish the article you wrote about her many years ago." I remember the last lines. They were: "Lucky the man who dies on the day of Jane Addams' death. The doors of heaven, on that day, will be open so wide that all may enter." If pure goodness, unselfishness and devotion count in heaven as we believe they do, Jane Addams will have a seat in front of Washington, Jefferson and many others, and very likely next to Lincoln.

AN EXACT definition is precious emotion, especially a definition of love, that complicated thing. Miss Peggy Joyce, whose career of intense romance is known to all that read the big headlines, has supplied the definition. She is the young lady well described as "easy on the eyes." "I don't want money but love, the great, grand understanding kind of love." This being the case with Miss Joyce, you will not be surprised to hear that she has decided if possible to marry Mr. Lou Tellegen, until lately the property of Miss Geraldine Farrar.

Miss Joyce described love with a capital L, dressed in a cherry crepe gown, with cherry sport hat, cherry sport shoes to match. A diamond necklace, looking, the reporter said, like large cracked ice, was worn in memory of her second husband. Other jewels, also diamonds, in memory of the fourth. One and three were not represented. Heloise didn't begin to understand love or style, as Peggy Joyce understands both. As for Abelard, he would be only "atmosphere" in a Lou Tellegen picture.

THEY FOUND a "chopping block" for Jack Dempsey, a certain giant, Ben Wray, of Oklahoma. Mr. Wray is seven feet two inches tall, heavy in proportion. Dempsey knocked him senseless in thirty seconds. There was great admiration in the crowd, for such "science." An orangoutang four feet high, in the featherweight class, could knock Dempsey senseless in three seconds and Dempsey would never come back to consciousness. We call that "brute strength."

THE SHIPS come sailing in loaded with liquor. Uncle Sam says that the next step may be confiscation of the ship. The law allows it. England is outraged at the suggestion. But when a German ship carried contraband liquor that had paid no British taxes into the British three-mile limit, that ship was seized, heavily fined and its cargo confiscated. There is a theory across the ocean that England and some other countries may do things that the United States mustn't do. It's an inaccurate theory.

We own the waters within three miles of our coast. Those waters are part of our national home and the nation has a right to decide what may enter its house. Nevertheless it is impolite and impolitic unwise to unite all the nations in thoroughly justified protest and in just dislike of us.

What they do or drink at sea does not interfere with our prohibition any more than Turkish polygamy interferes with our virtue. The President should find a way out of this foolish situation. If the idea is to help out shipping which may be dry, then making this nation ridiculous is too big a price to pay for doubtful help.

PRESIDENT HARDING says that in the next war dollars as well as men will be drafted. John M. Baer, cartoonist, who used to be farmer-Congressman from North Dakota, publishes in the soldiers' paper, "Stars and Stripes," a cartoon asking the President, why he doesn't conscript a few dollars now to pay the soldiers part of what they lost in the last war? It's a timely question. The President's reply would be that he believes bonus will pass without any doubt at the beginning of the next Congress.

MME. GANNA WALSKA

FRENCH EDITOR ON TRIAL FOR TREASON

Dusseldorf, June 27 (AP)—A French sergeant and a corporal were wounded near Witten in an attack upon four French soldiers by three German men and one woman.

Paris, June 27 (AP).—The trial of Ernest Judet, newspaper editor, charged with communicating with the enemy during the war, began today.

Judet was editor of Le Petit Journal when it enjoyed the largest circulation in France, but lost this by taking the unpopular side of the Dreyfus case. He then became editor of L'Eclair, which also declined.

The editor moved to Switzerland early in 1918, and was accused of treason in November, 1919, with his friend of twenty years' standing, Hans Bossard, a Swiss, and Deputy Paul Meunier and Madame Bernain De Ravisi. In February of the present year Judet and Bossard were condemned by default to life imprisonment.

To the great surprise of all France, Judet, about the middle of February, announced his intention of returning to face trial. He kept his word.

Meunier and Mme. De Ravisi were liberated on the ground that the case against them had not been established. Meunier has since died.

The evidence against Judet includes correspondence between Von Jagow, German under-secretary of foreign affairs, and Von Lacken, former attache at the German embassy in Paris. These letters were found in Brussels after the Germans had evacuated. In them Von Jagow speaks of buying Judet's influence in France, for which the editor is said to have demanded two million francs. This amount, according to the accusation, was paid.

2 Victims of German Railroad Bomb; Die

Wiesbaden, Germany, June 27 (AP). Two of the twelve persons wounded yesterday by the explosion of a bomb in the waiting room of the railway station here died today. The victims were among a large number of Germans who were awaiting a train, and it was assumed the bomb throwing was resorted to in an effort to deter German civilians from patronizing trains controlled by the French.

Beer Two Cents a Seidel; Coffee 90 Cents a Pound

Dusseldorf, June 27. (A.P.).—Owing to the depreciation of the mark, coffee now costs ninety cents a pound, while excellent beer is still available at the equivalent of 2 cents for a large seidel. Many persons are developing into pedestrians, as the charge for a taxi has risen to 10 cents a kilometer. Beefsteak still sells on a gold standard, retailing for 50 cents a pound.

DISABLED VETS ATTACK HINES AND CROSSMAN

Charges that high officials of the United States Veterans' Bureau were always able to participate in junkets throughout the country and yet were never able to attend meetings of disabled war veterans were mad at th annual convention of the National Disabled Soldiers' League, which opened today at ealy's Hotel.

The absence from the convention of National Director Hines and District Manager Crossman, was criticised by John T. Nolan, national commander of the league, when he called the convention to order.

"Each year the director of the Veterans' Bureau is unable to find time to attend the meeting of disabled men," Commander Nolan declared, "but he always manages to find time to take a junket over the country. The same is true of the district manager of this district, who says he is unable to accept our invitation because he is too busy with other matters."

DEFENDS DR. CROSSMAN

Neil Cronin of the local office of the Veterans Bureau, defended his chief, Dr. Crossman and told the delegates that the district manager had been called into a conference with several Senators and Representatives and that later in the day his attendance was necessary at the State House. Mr. Cronin said that Dr. Crossman was with the disabled men one hundred per cent. and that the bureau had only one purpose in view and that was to help the war veterans obtain what they are entitled to.

More than 300 delegates, all of whom are soldiers or sailors disabled in the war were in attendance. The convention will last throughout the week.

MRS. LUND'S PLAN

Mrs. Evelyn Lund, secretary of the National Forward to the Land League of Washington, D. C., was the principal speaker at the morning session. She said that the government had failed miserably in its efforts to do justice to the disabled soldiers and outlined a plan of farm and home building which her organization was sponsoring.

Other speakers were Mrs. Charles A. Robinson, national vice-commander of the women's auxiliary of the league, and Mrs. Bishop of the women's auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Committee chairmen appointed by Commander Nolan were: Constitution, Charles A. Koening, New Jersey; resolutions, James W. Hussey, New York; finance, James F. McCann, Pennsylvania, and credentials, Kenneth D. Murphy, New Jersey.

The officers of the league, besides Mr. Nolan, are: Thomas V. Fields first vice-commander; James W. Hussey, second vice-commander, David H. Hughes, third vice-commander; Charles A. York, fourth vice-commander; Kenneth D. Murphy, fifth vice-commander; Samuel J. Reed, adjutant, and James F. McCann, treasurer.

WALSKA IN TRANCE AT DEBUT

Songbird Submits to Hypnotic Treatment to Insure Success in Paris

Paris, June 27 (I.N.S.)—In the famous old Latin quarter of Paris, where Svengali hypnotized the singer-heroine of George Du Maurier's novel "Trilby," Mme. Ganna Walska underwent a similar treatment of mental suggestion before she made her Paris debut in "Rigoletto" last night at the Paris Opera House, it was learned today.

Only Mme. Walska's intimate friends knew of the hypnotic treatments she had undergone before appearing upon the stage in the role of "Gilda."

The hypnotist, employing the methods of mesmeric auto-suggestion now recognized by science, inculcated in the singer's mind the impressive thought that she would be a tremendous success and it did not fail.

ACTED NORMAL.

Then name the hypnotist and the studio where the treatment was administered were not revealed.

Many friends and admirers of the beautiful Polish singer, who filled boxes at the opera house, watched closely to ascertain the effect of the treatment, coupled with the natural talents of the singer.

When Mme. Walska appeared upon the stage her actions and voice were absolutely normal, showing no outward trace of the mental influence exerted over her.

The opera house was crowded with one of the most fashionable audiences of the season.

Mme. Walska, who in private life is the wife of Harold F. McCormick, Chicago multi-millionaire, was overjoyed at the public interest displayed in her Paris debut.

NUMEROUS OBSTACLES.

She had encountered numerous obstacles as Herr Shwartz of the Berlin Opera Company, who was to sing in the title role, sent word at the last minute that illness would prevent him from taking part. The role was filled by the tenor, Smyrnoff.

When Ganna made her first entry upon the stage her voice was almost inaudible to the audience. But she showed remarkable will power and sang until the last curtain, despite hoodlums in the gallery who whistled derisively and shouted "enough, enough."

Mme. Walska decided to take hypnotic treatment upon the advice of a friend, an American woman painter.

LIKE DR. COUE.

The hypnotist who treated Mme. Walska is author of a book—"The Power of Will"—which is widely read in Paris. His reputation is said to be second only to that of Dr. Coue. His technique is somewhat similar to Dr. Coue's, except that he completely hypnotizes his patients.

The psychologist's first treatment was an attempt at negative suggestion; that is to persuade Ganna she would not suffer stage fright, but apparently he was unsuccessful against the dominant character and strong will of his pupil.

However, as the treatments continued, Professor Straam, Ganna's music teacher, said he observed improvement in the voice. Mme. Walska, who was already feeling the strain of her continuous rehearsals, broke into tears.

She ordered Straam from the room, saying she was taking the hypnotic treatments for her nerves, to ward off stage fright and not for her voice. She insisted the treatments had not affected her voice in any way.

NEW DRUG ACQUITS SLAYER

Brings Out Truth of Crimes in Remarkable Tests on Convicts

San Quentin, Cal., June 27 (A.P.)—Scopolamin, an alkaloid, was used in experiments on three inmates of San Quentin prison here, and John L. Farrar, convicted of the murder of a Chinese in Sacramento, was proved innocent; Eugene O'Leary, sentenced from Sacramento on a grand larceny charge, provided authorities with information as to his identity, and John L. Johnson, negro, admitted his guilt and confessed to participation in other crimes, according to the experimentors.

Dr. R. E. House of Ferris, Texas, conducted the experiments before several prison officials and criminal investigators.

Dr. Rouse declared the scopolamin rendered the subjects incapable of mental inhibition and deprived them of reasoning power, so that they were incapable of lying while under its influence. Other faculties, however, remained intact, he said.

Farrar, while under the influence of the alkaloid, confessed that he participated in the attempted robbery of a Chinese merchant in Sacramento, during which the Chinese was killed. Farrar was convicted of murder, but, according to his story told while under the drug's influence, the fatal shot was fired by Roy Carver, an accomplice.

Henry Wilkens of San Francisco, who was acquitted of the murder of his wife, Mrs. Anna Wilkens, last March, was again acquitted of the charge at the Temple hospital last night after he had submitted voluntarily to the scopolamin test, according to experimentors.

DELORME SEES DUMMY OF BROTHER

Montreal, June 27—An effigy of Raoul Delorme, Ottawa University student for whose murder his half brother Adelarde, a former priest, is on trial, was introduced at the trial. The defendant displayed little or no emotion.

Adelarde Delorme

Dr. W. J. Derome, provincial [illegible], pointed to the dummy as he testified regarding the condition of the body. The defence is seeking to show that the body did not rest [illegible] hours on the streets in the outskirts of the city, where the shooting occurred, before it was found.

RETIRES AFTER 51 YEARS AS TEACHER

When the elementary schools in Somerville closed for the year at noon today, Miss Mina J. Wendell, supervising principal of the Morse and Burns Schools, retired after 51 years as teacher. She missed only three and one-half days in 41 years' service at the Morse Grammar School. This was due to illness. She was the first woman principal in Somerville, named in 1890. Miss Wendell, who is in her seventy-first year, was born in Woburn.

Miss Mina J. Wendell

She plans to spend the Summer resting in Maine and then travel through the Winter months.

REVENGE SEEN IN SLAYING OF WOMAN

MRS. MARY LAWRENCE (inset)

Chicago, June 27.—Mrs. Mary Lawrence was slain by someone whose ill will she incurred in fulfilling her "mission" as the "Guardian of Lover's Lane".

That is the theory which the Chicago police have formulated, following the discovery of her body on the front porch of the little home in which she lived, and which edged on that amorous nook known as "Lover's Lane."

Mrs. Lawrence, the police say, took upon herself the burden of protecting young girls and women who had been lured to this lonely spot by motorists, remaining on watch until late in the morning.

For this reason, the police believe that some person, embittered against Mrs. Lawrence for breaking up his love tryst, laid in wait and then killed her. She is survived by a son, Harold, 18 years old, and a daughter, Ethel.

HOUSE OF DAVID LOSES SUIT; ORDERED TO PAY $24,078

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 27.—A final decree in the suit brought by John and Margaret Hansel against Benjamin Purnell and the House of David at Benton Harbor was filed in Federal Court by Judge John Sater of Columbus, O., in which he overruled the application made by the House of David for a rehearing, awarded the Hansels $24,078.08 with costs, and overruled the defendants' request for the appointment of a receiver for the colony.

FORCED TO DO STRIKE DUTY LYNN UNION HEAD CLAIMS

Charges that a telephone operator in a Lynn shoe factory has been forced by her employer to do strike duty in the Lynn telephone exchange were made today by Elizabeth Cleary, president of the Lynn Telephone Operators' Union.

She said the operator, a woman 45 years old, is bordering on a breakdown.

Miss Cleary requested officers of the Women Stitchers' Local of the Amalgamated Shoe Workers Union to take up the matter with officials of the A. M. Creighton Shoe Company, in whose Broad street factory the telephone operator is employed.

10 PER CENT. WAGE INCREASE FOR NAVY YARD EMPLOYES

Washington, June 27.—An average increase of 10 per cent. over the prevailing schedule has been recommended by the navy wage board in its report of a new scale for navy yard employes, effective July 1.

In view of the limitation on pay set by available appropriations, it was predicted at the department today that the increase recommended would necessitate a reduction in personnel at many of the shore stations.

MARTIAL LAW IN OKLAHOMA TO CURB LAWLESSNESS

Okmulgee, Okla., June 27 (I.N.S.)—Five hundred National Guardsmen today placed Okmulgee County under martial law by order of Governor J. C. Walton, who declared that city and county authorities had shown themselves unable to cope with "lawlessness which may burst into flames."

SPLINTER FOOT LONG IN ARM REMOVED BY DOCTORS

Spring Lake, N. J., June 27.—A splinter, one foot long and two inches wide, was removed today from the arm of W. M. Sherman of Manasquan, a saw mill worker. Doctors said the splinter which entered above the wrist and came out near the shoulder, was probably the largest ever taken from a mans' body.

RUSSIA TO BUY 10,000 CATS IN POLAND FOR WAR ON RATS

Warsaw, June 27 (AP).—A Russian Soviet commission has arrived in Poland charged with the task of purchasing 10,000 cats, with which to fight the rats which are becoming a scourge in Russia.

BROTHER OF MRS. CARUSO IS SUED

Wife Asks Divorce, Alimony and Custody of Children; He Is in South America

New York, June 27.—Park Benjamin, brother of Mrs. Enrico Caruso, widow of the famous tenor, has been sued for divorce by Mrs. Katherine Doremus Benjamin, who [illegible] a "beautiful woman."

Mrs. Park Benjamin

Benjamin is now in South America. Mrs. Benjamin is living in [illegible] with their two children. She asks alimony and the custody of the children. Mrs. Benjamin is the daughter of Professor Charles Avery Doremus of the College of the City of New York.

The affairs of the Park Benjamin family have been much in the public eye. Park Benjamin, Sr., was a wealthy patent attorney and writer on naval subjects.

He objected to the marriage of his daughter Dorothy to Caruso.

Then Benjamin adopted Anna Bouchi, an Italian immigrant girl, and when he died cut his children off and left his estate to Anna Bouchi Benjamin. The will was contested and a settlement made.

A short time ago Anna Bouchi Benjamin took her adopted father's ashes to the middle of the Atlantic and cast them into the sea, as he had requested in his will.

MacMILLAN NOW ON HIGH SEAS FOR ARCTIC

Monhegan Island, Me., June 27.—Lack of one rifle delayed the sailing of Captain Donald B. MacMillan's Arctic expedition by about twenty four hours. With the missing weapon added to the ship's manifest, the little auxiliary schooner Bowdoin sailed from this port for Sydney, N. S., the first stage of her trip to the Far North, undertaken for scientific research and exploration, to last at least fifteen months.

FORMER CHELSEA BOY TO BECOME PRIEST

Michael H. Dunne, a former Chelsea resident, will be ordained tomorrow in Washington by Archbishop Curley of Baltimore, and will celebrate his first solemn high mass Sunday at St. Rose's Church, Chelsea. Mr. Dunne was born in Ireland and educated at Dublin University and Georgetown University. Before entering the seminary he lived with his four brothers in Chelsea. He was a member of the Young Men's Sodality of the Immaculate Conception Church, Boston, and Division 10, A. O. H.

2 CHILDREN PERISH IN TUGBOAT FIRE

New Haven, Ct., June 27.—Trapped by flames on an old gasoline tugboat on the Quinnipiac river, Georgianna Turkert, 5; William Gerrick, 12, were burned to death.

Several other children who were playing on the boat when the fire broke out got off safely. Attempts were made to rescue the victims, but the flames spread too rapidly.

$3,000,000 TORNADO LOSS IN ONTARIO

Toronto, Ont., June 27 (I.N.S.).—Certain districts in Western Ontario swept by tornado early Tuesday, were still isolated today. The storm centered over a radius of [illegible] miles. The total damage is estimated at more than $3,000,000.

MORE STRIKING PHONE GIRLS FLOCK BACK

Baker, secretary of the Molloy union, in which Miss Baker said:

"Our group is willing to get together with the O'Connor group for the purpose of pooling our strength and effecting unity and harmony.

"We want to straighten out the difficulties and differences which have existed for a long time.

"But if it is the intention of Miss O'Connor to use this harmony conference as a basis of calling our group out on strike, the conference will fail.

"We believe the girls can get what they want peaceably, without striking. We should get together to this end, find out what the girls want and then go after it with 100 per cent strength."

Without making specific reference to the exchange of notes, Miss O'Connor said:

"There is something in the air concerning a meeting of the two groups for the purpose of effecting unity.

"But there is no truth to the story in the morning papers which endeavored to create the impression that this meeting was for the purpose of ending the strike.

NOT REALLY UNDER WAY.

"No amalgamation of the two groups is possible unless that amalgamation is based on an absolute acquiescence by the telephone company to the demands for which we are on strike.

"It is not true that the strike is over, as the company officials announce. The strike has not really got under way.

"Much pressure has been brought to bear against Miss Molloy to come back into the fold from which she seceded. The pressure comes not from us, nor from our pickets. It comes from within her own organization, from the rank and file of her own membership.

"They recognize that in the long run the telephone company will break them if they do not stand with us to protect our interests. If the telephone company thinks the strike is over, why have they reserved 200 rooms in the Biltmore hotel in Providence for strikebreakers?"

The latter charge was denied by General Manager Dresser of the phone company, who said:

BOSTON NEAR NORMAL.

"It is not true that we have reserved 200 rooms at the Biltmore in Providence for strikebreakers. The hotel company merely informed us that we could have such accommodation if we found them desirable.

"The situation in Providence is steadily improving."

Service in Boston is practically normal, and any operators returned to work today.

While yesterday sixty pickets attempted to dissuade loyal operators from entering the exchanges, today only six were on picket duty, and they did "silent picketing."

Two pickets paced the walks before the Haymarket Exchange on Chardon street until it was learned that only one girl was missing. They are reported as having given up the task then in disgust.

Three strikers did picket duty at the Richmond Exchange where there are 110 operators still on strike. "Volunteers" however have managed to maintain fifty per cent. of normal service there.

Neutral parties claim that 180 girls were out at the Beach Exchange where six pickets today replaced the thirty or thirty-five on duty yesterday. Strike breakers and girls from other exchanges pressed in service there have overcome the loss due to defection.

The Back Bay Exchange on Norway street was expected to be a source of trouble. Thus far nothing has occurred there more exciting than a brief flurry in which one girl was slapped.

SEVEN PICKETS.

Service there is estimated at fifteen per cent below normal. Seven pickets are on duty.

One of the notable examples in the change of sentiment occurred in Hyde Park. There was almost 100 per cent tie up in this exchange yesterday but at 7 a. m. today service was normal. It was said by operators today that every one of the forty-two girls was back at work.

Conditions in University (Cambridge), South Boston, Dorchester Columbia, Charlestown, Somerville, Brookline and Aspinwall Exchanges were normal or practically so. No pickets were on duty.

Company officials expressed themselves as "satisfied that the strike would be ended by tonight."

One official admitted "this gives a great opportunity for the weeding out of dead wood and troublemakers."

"Do you mean the company will discharge operators active in the striking union for their part in the strike?" he was asked.

"Oh, no. Still there are some of those girls who are always fomenting trouble and it would be better for all concerned if they were 'eliminated.'"

BOSTON IS KEYSTONE.

Fear that the company would discriminate against them has held a number of strikers from returning.

There was a marked dying down today of the bitterness that flamed

AREAS AND CONDITION OF SERVICE

PHONE STRIKE BULLETINS

Springfield, June 27 (I. N. S.).—Injunction restraining picketing by striking operators was drawn up here today by the law firm of Ely & Ely, in behalf of the New England Telephone Company. If granted, it is said, all picketing would be prohibited. Local officials of the company said the writ had not yet been filed and that it would not be unless "conditions warrant it."

Springfield—Attorney Joseph B. Healy, former district attorney, has been retained by the New England Telephone Company. There were reports today that the company plans to apply for injunctions restraining the striking operators from picketing and other activities. Little improvement in the telephone service was noticeable. Only emergency calls handled.

Providence—The State telephone service is still paralyzed. Twenty new girls and eleven boys went into the Union exchange today. There were a few other recruits in the other four exchanges. Strikebreakers slept in the offices last night and are being fed there.

Thirty striking operators returned to their switchboards at the Arlington Exchange today. Pickets are on duty in front of the exchange, but the number had dwindled greatly over yesterday.

Providence, June 27.—Deputy Commissioner of Labor Christopher M. Dunn conferred with telephone company officials today, offering the services of the State Board of Labor. He suggested mediation. He will also offer services to May Brady, president of the Operators' Union. Miss Brady has said she would favor this sort of mediation. The company officials gave no definite opinion of the plan.

All girls here are still out and an enthusiastic mass meeting was held this morning.

Holyoke, June 27.—Picketing of the exchange here was abandoned today. The strike has not affected Holyoke.

Westfield, June 27.—A full force of operators was reported on duty today. Yesterday seventeen out of twenty-five were out.

Springfield, June 27.—Telephone officials today stated that 320 local exchange and toll operators who worked at different shifts yesterday were still loyal today. Forty student operators were placed at work and thirty more were accepted today for training. The total normal operating force is 530. Fifty girls slept in the exchange building last night.

The company says 12 of the strikers have applied for their posts but no definite answer has yet been given them.

SENATOR STANLEY SCORES SHIP RAIDS

London, June 27 (I.N.S.).—U. S. Senator A. Owsley Stanley of Kentucky in a public statement here today, denounced the seizure of liquor from foreign ships in U. S. ports.

He predicted that when Congress meets, action will be taken to "restore the liberty of sea travelers."

Girl Sells Jerseyman Whole Rum Fleet; Charges Him $100

Newark, N. J., June 27.—A young woman of the business girl type asked Benjamin Falco of Carlstadt, N. J., on a train what time it was. Falco told her, and the young woman became conversational.

She pointed to where a large fleet of launches, yachts and lighters lay stored, the result of liquor raids. "Those all belong to me," she told Falco. "They're a nuisance. I'd take $100 for the whole lot."

Falco produced $100 and the girl handed him a "bill of sale."

Falco started off to claim his fleet, but was chased away by a guard. A policeman told Falco the bill of sale was a work of art, but did not mean anything.

between the warring factions and the majority of operators today were talking of "amalgamation."

Miss O'Connor was optimistic in face of the apparent loss of support in Boston and declared: "We are more confident today than we were yesterday. We are on the winning end of this strike.

"We have been making inroads all night in the suburban exchanges.

"The service has been impaired far more than the company or others would have the public believe. In one hotel the operators were unable to get through more than twenty out of every hundred calls.

PROTEST TO C. L. U.

"Some of the operators now working do not even know how to put on a headpiece and seventy-five have had just one lesson.

"I am going to the Central Labor Union today to complain against the interference of the police in our peaceful picketing.

"The police have been very annoying and have exceeded their authority on numerous occasions.

BACK FORD FOR THIRD PARTY LEADER

Detroit, June 27.—Planning a vigorous campaign to nominate Henry Ford for President, probably as the leader of a third party, the Dearborn Ford-for-President Clubs is considering calling a convention of all Ford clubs in Michigan, it was announced today by Rev. William Dawe, leader of the movement in the home town of the Detroit manufacturer.

The object, Dr. Dawe said, would be to effect a national organization and co-ordinate what thus far has been purely spontaneous organization of Ford clubs. Plans of the Dearborn leaders contemplate a call for an assembly of delegates from Michigan clubs, but Dr. Dawe declared the proposed convention might develop into a national affair.

Correspondence with Ford clubs throughout the country makes it clear, according to the secretary of the Dearborn organization, that the Ford supporters desire a third party.

"The movement has grown to such proportions," he declared, "that there is only one thing left to do, and that is to create a national organization."

FEW CHANGES IN IMMIGRATION

Washington, June 27. — Only slight changes from the allotments of the past year are shown in regulations promulgated today by the Labor Department fixing the number of immigrants of the various nationalities who will be admitted to the United States under the quota law during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The quotas for the foreign countries which ordinarily send the largest number of immigrants show no change. Out of the total of 357,803 who will be admitted, the same as for 1922-23, the allotment for the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland remains at 77,342; that of Germany again is 67,607, and that for Italy is unchanged at 42,057; Austria, 7,342; Hungary, 5,638; Syria, 882; Poland, 30,977; Russia, 24,405; France, 5,729.

The end of the present fiscal year on June 30 is expected by officials here to see every quota exhausted except those of Germany and Esthonia. Germany will have approximately 20,000 left, and Esthonia 1,000.

BUILDING BOOM FIGURES SHOW BIG GAIN

The building boom is again breaking records.

Returns from thirty-five cities tabulated today by the State Department of Labor and Industries show that the value of building permits last month was $16,741,215, an increase of 14.9 per cent. over the same cities in the same month last year.

The proposed new buildings include 967 residential structures, capable of housing 1,766 families. There will be 343 one-family houses, 618 for two families, 340 multi-family and 266 dwellings combined with stores.

The division of the proposed new construction is: For residential buildings, $7,886,702; for non-residential buildings, $5,917,797; for alterations and repairs, $2,936,716.

Boston permits totalled $4,584,781. They included 208 garages valued at $492,031, a hotel at $463,000 and five "institutions" at $450,000. The value of new dwellings was $1,386,600.

EXPERT GIVES BUDGET FOR FAMILY OF 4 WITH $2,500 INCOME

SAVING AND LUXURIES POSSIBLE

Proper Apportionment of Household Expenses Brings Happiness

How to satisfy the demands of two children and the needs of husband and wife on a yearly income of $2,500 and still be able to save is told by Miss Sara L. Oller, home economic expert, in today's Boston American.

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE.

A family of four—man and wife and two children—can live comfortably and save about $222 on a yearly income of $2,500.

And there won't be any need of scrimping on food or the giving up of hubby's smokes or Johnnie's all-day sail which he so carefully planned.

CARE NECESSARY.

Of course keen and wise judgment in the handling of the family funds will be necessary, but since all "banking" is based on the supposition that those who handle it are capable, the family works out the same way.

"Unless we save a little," Miss Oller says, "we never can have a great deal. Saving is one way of accomplishing the goal of a family of four. In most cases it is to buy a home or an automobile, which, on the present income, could not be afforded. Her budget follows:

Investment
Life Insurance	$ 75.00
Savings in the bank	147.00
Operating
Business Carfares	60.00
Rent	600.00
Upkeep of home—to include gas, electricity, house carfares, laundry and telephone	120.00
Household supplies	40.00
Food
Groceries for the house, to include meats and dairy products	700.00
Noon-day lunches for the man (allows for just a drink and a sandwich)	100.00
Clothing
Man	100.00
Wife	100.00
Two children	150.00
Health
To include doctor, dentist and other medical needs	60.00
Advancement
Newspapers and magazines	15.00
Gifts	50.00
Club Dues	10.00
Church and Charity	25.00
Personal Expenses (to include books, music, etc.)	18.00
Luxuries
Vacation—Week-end trips to beach	30.00
Social pleasures to include movies and theatres	30.00
Other luxuries—candy and smoking	30.00
Total	$2,500.00

On an income of $2,500 the wife can make or break her husband.

If it is found that more must be spent for food, it should be taken from the operating expenses. If not used for this purpose it should be added to clothing or advancement.

LEARNING TO SAVE.

Learning to save is the first consideration of the spending of an income. Very few people can successfully save what is left over—usually there isn't any. Successful folks set aside a regular and reasonable sum to be conserved each month.

Present needs must be balanced against future necessities. That is the whole scheme of spending money and the purpose for burgeting.

Tomorrow Miss Oller will consider money abudged for families of four and five whose incomes are $3,000.

DUTY ON MAH JONG FIXED BY MATERIAL

Washington, June 27.—The ancient and honorable Chinese game of Mah Jong, which has been gaining such a vogue in America, will not be officially recognized by the government as "dominoes" for customs taxation puorposes.

If the decision had been otherwise, Mah Jong sets imported into the United States would be assessed at the domino rate of duty or 50 per cent. ad valorem. The government has decided that the game "is probably dutiable acording to the component material of chief value." This means that Mah Jong sets will pay various rates, regulated by the material of which the "tiles" are manufactured.

If the tile is made principally of ivory, it wil pay a rather high rate of duty, but the cheaper sets, which are faced with bone will pay a lower rate.

WAGE INCREASE FOR BROOKLYN CARMEN

New York, June 27.—A general wage advance for employes of the Brooklyn City Railroad Company, averaging from 4 to 5 per cent., affecting 2,500 motormen and conductors, was announced today.

A corresponding increase also was granted other employes. The present hourly wage is 45 cents for the first six months, with gradual increases.

MRS. CHARLES SUMNER BIRD.

Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird of Walpole will probably become the first Republican national committeewoman from Massachusetts. She is expected to reply in the affirmative to a letter sent yesterday by National Committeeman William M. Butler asking if she would accept the place, and then the appointment will be made.

MEAT CUTTERS WILL SHOW HOW TO SAVE

A meat cutting demonstration will be staged in the hall of the Retail Grocers and Provision Dealers' Association, No. 12 South Market street, at 1 o'clock tomorow afternoon. The demonstration, first since the introduction of Argentine beef 10 years ago, will be held by the Boston Meat Council, of which Charles H. Brown is president.

Its purpose is to promote better merchandising of meat and meat products to effect savings that may be passed to the consumer in lower prices.

Arthur Dorr of Boston and J. J. Doheny of the Department of Agriculture will speak.

OFFICER SELF-SLAIN, SAYS PRISONER

Detroit, June 27.—John L. Whitfield, whose capture here ended a chase that has extended through Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan, denies that he killed Dennis Griffin, Cleveland policeman, for whose slaying he is wanted.

In a cell here Whitfield told officers that Griffin, who had Whitfield under arrest and was driving him to police station, accidentally shot himself and left the automobile to have the wound dressed.

He said he knew nothing of what happened to the officer thereafter.

"I started to drive to a corner to tell a traffic officer about it," Whitfield is quoted as saying, "but something happened to change my mind."

Police detective Charles O. Nevel of Cleveland directed the twenty-five heavily armed local police which surrounded a lumber yard here where Whitfield was employed. Nevel made the arrest, covering Whitfield with a revolver before the captive had a chance to flee.

Griffin was never seen alive after he started for a Cleveland police station with Whitfield, who had been placed under arrest on a warrant charging theft of some spark plugs. The patrolman's body, stripped of its clothes, was found in a shallow grave outside Cleveland several days later.

Los Angeles—Edward L. Doheny, head of the Pan-American petroleum interests, denies he is a prospective buyer of Santa Cruz Island, off Santa Barbara.

Lancester, O.—John H. Karshner, Officer at the Boys' Industrial School, died as the result of an attack made upon him by Frederick C. Mills, 16, of Akron, an inmate.

VAHEY GIVES CARMEN'S CASE TO ARBITRATOR

The 2,000 employes of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway today submitted their wage deamnds to arbitration.

"The feeling between the men and the company is excellent," said Attorney James H. Vahey, counsel for the men, in opening their case at the first State House hearing before the neutral arbitrator, Chairman Henry C. Attwill of the State Department of Public Utilities.

"All other questions except wages have been agreed upon at the confernce table with the public trustees," he added, "and the question of wages we submit to you, agreeing to abide by your decision."

Conductors and motormen are now paid forty-nine cents an hour for the first three months, fifty-one cents for the next nine months and fifty-four and one-half cents thereafter. One-man car operators are paid 59½ cents.

Mr. Vahey said the platform men want a maximum of 65 cents an hour, the same wage which has been offered by the public trustees to the men on the Elevated. For all other employes he asked a similar percentage of increase.

He said the work is almost identical as on the Elevated, yet the Eastern Massachusetts men are greatly underpaid. He said by working eight hours a day, six days a week, fifty weeks in the year, the El platform men earn $1,547.52, as compared with $1,360.80 on the old Bay State. The Eastern Massachusetts one-man car operators earn $1,485.12 as compared with $1,747.20 on the El.

Mr. Vahey said the employes have submitted their case to arbitration year after year since 1912 and they have suffered one "bad and unfortunate break" after another. The cost of living was mounting by leaps and bounds and their wages were always lagging behind, he said.

Chairman Arthur Wadleigh of the trustees will present the case of the company.

Each one was in colors.

Each one occupied 710 square inches—a full double page.

And each one cost $24,000.

This is one of the economies of large scale production—to reach millions of consumers at once. Compare the $24,000 paid for each of these mammoth advertisements with the colossal cost of reaching 18,000,000 prospective buyers by word of mouth or by letter.

The postage on the letters alone of one advertisement would cost more than $360,000. It is merchandising like this that reduces the cost of commodities.

When a single publication is bought each week by nearly FOUR AND A HALF MILLION FAMILIES, who pay twice as much for the papers with which it is distributed as they do for ANY other Sunday paper, it speaks well for the publication and better for its advertisers.

We have compiled some pertinent data, relative to the "World's Greatest Advertising Buy," that is of vital interest to every advertiser.

'MARGIE SAYS' LEFT BIG SUM TO PARTNER

SAVOY AND BRENNAN ON STAGE

New York, June 27.—Bert Savoy, of the vaudeville team of Savoy and Brennan, probably the best known in the world, was killed by lightning at Long Beach. Jack Grossman, another vaudeville actor, known on the stage as Jack Vincent, who was with him at the time, was killed by the same bolt. Two others were not injured.

There were four men in the party and they were walking along the beach after a swim. John Haley, a friend and associate of Savoy in the real estate business, said that the lightning blinded and stunned him and the fourth member of the party, whose name was not learned.

As soon as he could see Haley noticed Savoy and Vincent lying on the sand. He called to them to hurry out of the storm. At first he thought they were playing. He hurried back to them to urge that they seek shelter and found them dead.

TOGETHER MANY YEARS.

Savoy and Brennan had been together for many years. They are best remembered in connection with the "Greenwich Village Follies" of recent years and on Keith circuit vaudeville.

Savoy was a female impersonator. He introduced the expression: "You don't know the half of it," and in his babbling, flirtatious conversations with Brennan referred frequently to a friend known as "Margie." But, judging from the stories he told about Margie, she was inclined to put pleasure before business. His favorite story about Margie referred to her playing jazz on the piano on Sunday. A preacher, by way of reprimand, asked Margie if she knew the Ten Commandments. Margie said she didn't but believed she could pick out the tune if the preacher would hum it.

INSURED EACH OTHER.

Four weeks ago Savoy and Brennan each took out life insurance policies for $100,000, naming each other as beneficiaries.

Jay Brennan had been a member of the party at the beach until a few days ago when his physician advised that he go to French Lick Springs, Ind. He went at once.

Savoy was about 38 years of age. He was born in Boston and began his career there as a sash boy in a department store. His real name is Everett L. McKenzie.

The bodies of Vincent and Savoy were taken to Macken's undertaking establishments at Oceanside.

Literally millions of persons have laughed at the side-splitting dialogue of Savoy and Brennan. In the course of years they came to be the best remembered feature of the many excellent shows in which they had parts.

IN GIDDY GOWNS.

Savoy usually won a storm of applause as soon as he entered because he would be attired in a burlesque of the giddiest fashion of the day. If gowns displayed the shoulders and back, his gown would be a square foot or so more daring than any other. If jewels of any particular type were worn his would be of that type but as large as his fist.

His first engagement as a female impersonator was taking the part of a servant girl in an emergency with a small time vaudeville team with which he started. The type he portrayed during the years of success was about the same girl, very much dressed up and trying to "get by" in New York without education or social graces, but equipped with a good nature and readiness to enter upon any sort of adventure for the fun of it. Brennan was the ideal "feeder" for this type. He was the correct, educated man, astonished and even a little frightened by the boldness of the "young woman." Often it was obvious that the "young woman" was intent on luring him into a restaurant.

Savoy & Brennan played with "The Passing Show of 1917," "Miss 1917," the "Midnight Frolic," "Hitchy Koo" and the "Greenwich Follies." During recent weeks they had been on the Keith Circuit until Brennan's health broke under the strain of a hot Summer and they decided to take a vacation.

Blair and Thomas P. Walsh—will take the test.

DREAM OF AGES WILL COME TRUE

Dr. Steinmetz Foresees Human Labor Reduced to Minimum

By GRACE DesCHAMPS.

The Promised Land is coming—

Maybe a long way off, but it's coming; an existence wherein man may live to the fullest.

Dr. C. P. Steinmetz, the wizard of science, says so.

Dr. Steinmetz

Allowing sweeping admissions for the intellectual shortcomings of the human race, Dr. Steinmetz took reporters confidently into a distant future where, he said, the great expectations of the human race were to be fulfilled; where labor was reduced to a minimum; where the creature comforts existed for all; where there was time to enjoy the phenomenon of life, and where man might have the leisure to develop his intellectual and aesthetic being.

And science is going to do it, under the urge of the combined mental faculties of men who are not afraid to grapple with the forces of nature.

TO LIBERATE RACE.

So says Steinmetz. He is the outstanding figure at the annual convention of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers in session this week at Swampscott.

"Science is going to liberate the human race." That was the answer of the vivid little genius to the charge that industrialized science has brought man down from a normal being to a slave of machinery, time-clocks and elevated trains.

"It is true," he said, "that a man works eight hours in a factory under conditions that are far from perfect. But it is foolish to make unfavorable comparisons with conditions of a remote past. Instead of eight hours a day, man worked from dawn until dark merely to provide himself and his family with food. The human race today is enjoying the best era in its known history. Today we are not slaves to the soil. We should not permit the matter of money, however, to make us slaves of machinery.

Frank Jewett

"The world is growing better—not worse. Today we know to our sorrow that the last war was wrong and unnecessary. We are learning that war is not a matter of flag-waving and cheers. It is a question of economics, purely. And war is a mistake today.

"I believe that as man develops intellectually he is bound to develop socially. With his mastery of science he may make of war a force for world destruction, but his social instincts are going to intervene before his lesser instincts let loose the deluge. Man is going to stop and think before he sets the world on fire with war.

FUEL FROM SUN.

"A glimpse of the world a hundred years hence would be a tax on the imagination. The forces contained in light and heat and water are so overwhelming as to be almost incomprehensible. There are great fuel possibilities, for instance, in the sun. Man, eventually, will not be dependent upon the present sources for fuel.

"Electricity is going to do away with the drudgery in the world. Man is going to have the time necessary to develop himself to his highest and the individual will come into his own.

"The charge against us that, as a nation, we are not educated has truth in it. But it is only partly true. We are forging ahead in science and the nation that does so cannot be intellectually decadent. But we have no answer to the charge that we are money grabbers.

91 LOSE AUTO LICENSES IN ONE DAY

Ninety-one autoists' licenses suspended or revoked in this State sets a new high record for a single day.

Frank A. Goodwin

Already, 835 have been suspended this month and 3,902 this year. Both are new records.

"Drastic action is necessary because of the increasing number of fatal accidents," said Frank A. Goodwin, the State Registrar of Motor Vehicles.

"In the past ten days twenty-three persons have been killed, thirteen of them being small children. Forty-six people have been killed this month.

"Unless there is a general slowing-up of motor vehicles, especially in the cities, the number of fatalities will be greater than last year. There are 85,000 more cars on the road than a year ago."

BIGGEST RAID OF STILLS FOLLOWS SMELL OF LIQUOR

Raiding prohibition agents seized today in South Weymouth the largest moonshine distillery captured thus far in New England.

The equipment consisted of two 400-gallon stills, one 300-gallon still, two 200-gallon stills and one 100-gallon still, oil burners, condensers, copper cans and tubing.

Two hundred five-gallon tins and 100 one-gallon tins, sixty gallons of alcohol, two score barrels of mash, several hundred pounds of sugar and several hundred bottles were also taken.

Agents Clark, Doonan and Sullivan, driving through South Weymouth, noted the scent of moonshine. They decided the odor came from the farm of E. J. Corey and so obtained a search warrant.

When they searched the premises they found stills in the farmhouse, barn, chicken coop and two outhouses. Several, they say, were going full blast.

PLUNGE 40 FEET IN AUTO; TWO WOMEN ARE HURT

Springfield, June 27.—Plunged forty feet down an embankment in an automobile today, Mrs. Nora Corcoran, fifty-six, of No. 3 Somana street, Holyoke, suffered injuries expected to prove fatal.

Her daughter-in-law Mrs. Thomas Corcoran, had several ribs broken when jammed against the steering wheel.

The accident happened when a tire blew out as the younger woman was attempting to turn from Long Hill street to Pecousic avenue, directly above the New Haven tracks.

San Francisco—Dr. Kate Campbell Hurd Mead of Middletown, Ct., was elected president of the Women's Medical Association, a division of the American Medical Association.

GIVE AWAY $100,000 AND FAIL

Customer's Money Used to Stage Bonus Banquet by New York Brokers

New York, June 27.—One hundred thousand dollars and a banquet at Delmonico's was given by the firm of S. S. Ruskay & Company, a Consolidated Stock Exchange firm, in the form of a bonus to employes.

Shortly thereafter, according to evidence brought out at a hearing before Referee Harold J. Coffin, the firm crashed.

The $100,000 benevolently distributed as a bonus was part of $4,800,000 of customers' funds now represented as liabilities of the firm. The bonus was not enough.

Another instance of the generosity of the Ruskay firm was brought out.

A month before the failure, Burrill Ruskay, using the firm's money, bought a seat in the Consolidated Exchange for Harry Glaser, a broker. Another seat had been purchased previously for a former employe of the Ruskay firm. Ruskay advanced $30,000 to Glazer to "set him up in business."

All of this money, it is charged, came from funds of customers.

HAVE ICE WEIGHED IS CITY'S ADVICE

The ice man isn't giving anything away.

That's why the housewife should insist that he gives everything a weigh.

This is the advice handed out today by Sealer Charles B. Woolley of the Weights and Measures Department at City Hall. Mr. Woolley said:

"There is to be no short weight in ice in Boston this summer. Since June 19 this department, which has twelve deputies, has been engaged in a crusade against unscrupulous ice men. I have been advised by Mayor Curley to spare neither effort nor expense to stamp out the meanest form of thievery known, short-weighing ice in the sale of that product to heat-stricken people.

"The law protects those who obey it. Order your ice by weight. Say you want ten pounds of ice, not ten cents' worth. That's the only way you can be guaranteed protection. Order ice by weight."

DEFIES BAN BY 'SALLY' WEDDING

Colonel McIntyre Joins Salvation Army Pair, Despite Benton's Ruling

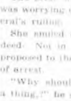
In defiance of the ruling of Attorney-General Jay R. Benton that Salvation Army officials are not allowed to perform marriages, Captain Vera Patterson, adjutant of the Chelsea Corps of the Salvation Army and Captain William Maltby of the finance department of the New York Salvation Army district, were married in the Higginson Auditorium, West Brookline street, South End, with the customary Salvation Army hallelujah ceremony.

Colonel William N. McIntyre, chief of staff of the Salvation Army in Boston, officiated.

Capt. Patterson

Colonel McIntyre declares that inasmuch as he was officiating both as a duly ordained minister of the Gospel and a justice of the peace, the instance could hardly be a test case. But it is said the ruling bans officers of the Salvation Army and a justice of the peace must also be clerk or assistant clerk of a town or court.

In the ceremony the marriage covenant from the articles of war of the Salvation Army was first read and then Colonel McIntyre, acting, he said, as duly empowered servant of the commonwealth, pronounced Captain Maltby and Captain Patterson man and wife. The word "obey" was omitted.



Capt. Maltby

In any event there is little time for active testing in this case as Captain Maltby and his wife leave today for Lake George on a brief honeymoon after which they will live in New York.

The bride was asked whether she was worrying over the Attorney General's ruling.

She smiled as she said: "No indeed. Not in the least." Some one proposed to the groom the possibility of arrest.

"Why should I worry over such a thing?" he said.

Mrs. Maltby is twenty-two years old. She is a graduate of the Army's college in New York, and it was there she first met Captain Maltby, who is twenty-three years old.

MASONIC TRIBUTE TO THE AMERICAN

The Boston American, Mayor Curley and others were eulogized in resolutions passed by the Massachusetts Federation of Masonic Clubs for help rendered and courtesy shown delegates to the recent convention of the National League of Masonic Clubs held in Boston the week of June 11.

Copies of the resolution reached the American today. This newspaper was thanked for its "apt efforts at accuracy of statement, judicious comments on our work and frequent complimentary references to the great fraternal institution of which we are servants."

Lured, She Says in Suit

MISS EVA LITTLE.

She has sued a Back Bay dentist for $100,000, charging that Dr. Frederick W. Hovestad of Marlboro street lured her to his yacht and attacked her. The dentist describes the girl's suit as purely an attempt at extortion.

ATTY. LEVENSON FACES JURY ON THEFT CHARGE

The famous Levenson case which figured in the removal proceedings of Nathan A. Tufts from the district attorneyship of Essex County in 1921 reached court today when a jury was selected and proceedings started in East Cambridge court before Judge Hammond.

Atty. Levenson

Harry E. Levenson, a former Boston attorney, is charged with larceny and attempted larceny from two men who engaged him as counsel when they were arrested charged with receiving stolen property. They were James Hughes and Ernest E. Lorcar. They were arrested during the Tufts regime.

Outlining the case to the jury today Assistant District Attorney Robert T. Bushnell charged that Levenson had promised to get probation for the men for $1,000. Later, the assistant district attorney charged, Levenson staged a fake conference, which he left twice, once to get $200 from his clients, saying, "These are tough birds to deal with," and again to get $140 more.

"After the removal of Mr. Tufts on October 1, 1921," said Bushnell, "both these men pleaded guilty to receiving stolen property, made partial restitution and cases against them were filed.

Hughes was the first witness today.

MAN FOUND DAZED DIES IN HOSPITAL

Edward F. Steinmeyer, 28 years old, of No. 19 Lithgow street, Dorchester, who was found at the Thompson Square station of the elevated in a dazed condition on Monday night, died today in the Relief Hospital. When Steinmeyer was discovered by Special Policeman Charles Walde he was unable to say who he was or to explain his actions. Identification was made shortly before he died.

Juneau—President Harding will be compelled for lack of time to decline the invitation extended him by the Legislature of the Yukon to visit that Territory.

NURSE SAYS SHE WAS ATTACKED

Eva Little Alleges Hovestad Lured Her to Yacht; Wants $100,000

Charging that she had been lured aboard his yacht, the Elvira, and attacked, Miss Eva Little, 22 years old, a pretty New York nurse, has brought a $100,000 breach of promise suit against Dr. Frederick W. Hovestad, of No. 220 Marlboro street.

Dr. Hovestad emphatically denied the whole story, branding it as an attempt to extort money from him. He declared that he would fight Miss Little's suit to the end.

Miss Little admits that at one time she loved the physician dearly and that she willingly took many long automobile and yacht rides with him.

TRUSTED DOCTOR.

"But I would never have gone with him on these parties," she declares, "but I believed he would betray his trust."

"Shortly after I left school in 1919," Miss Little continued, "I was introduced to Dr. Hovestad by a Back Bay physician. Two days later he engaged me as an office assistant.

"A week later he invited me aboard his yacht, the Elvira. I accepted. Luring me below the deck, he sought to attack me. I tried to resist and in the scuffle my clothes were torn from me.

LEARNED TO LOVE.

"Following that incident he promised to marry me. I believed him, and in time I came to love him. We spent much of our time aboard his yacht, and he granted me every wish.

"To me, a poor girl just out of school, he appeared the perfect lover. I was dazzled by his glittering promises and his reiterated promises of love. He took me for long automobile trips, visiting a camp in Gloucester, owned by a woman friend of his.

THE WOMAN PAYS.

"All that time I trusted, but in the end I came to see him in his true light. It is the old story—a rich man and a poor girl."

Miss Little came from New York to consult her lawyer, Nathan Ullian, regarding plans for prosecuting the suit.

Dr. Hovestad's counsel, William A. Morse, declared:

"This is not the first time that we have had dealings with Miss Little. In 1920 she demanded money of the doctor, but he refused to give any, declaring the charges false. Her suit is merely another attempt to make him pay."

KENTUCKY G. O. P. CONDEMNS KLAN

Lexington, Ky., June 27.—The Republican State Convention before adjourning early today adopted a plank denouncing the Ku Klux Klan as un-American. It was a surprise, as no intimation of such a move had leaked out.

Declaring the party heartily condemned the Klan as subversive of American ideals and institutions, the plank declared further, "We pledge Republican officials to a relentless warfare upon this (the Klan) and any similar organizations which may attempt to usurp the functions of government."

Efforts to pledge the party to repeal of a State law which sanctions Pari-mutuel betting on horse races were voted down.

Charles J. Dawson, former State Attorney-General, was nominated for Governor.

THE WAYS OF A HUSBAND—By ANN LISLE

A Splendid Sequel to the Famous Story of Wedded Life, "When a Girl Marries"

HOW THE STORY STARTS

Jim and Anne find happiness again on a honeymoon spent in the apartment of Betty Winston, loaned for the occasion. They go to Dreamwold for a Sunday dinner with Jeanie and are met in the grounds by Rosa, who ignores Anne. Rosa advises the discharge of Mabel Storrs to save the big salary. This Anne resents. Evvy helps Anne arrange her apartments and a dinner is given as a housewarming. Phoebe grows hysterical on receipt of Carlotta's wedding invitation. Betty speaks to Anne about Ralph's fondness for the latter.

By Ann Lisle

BETTY had enough enthusiasm to satisfy me, and her ideas suited me perfectly. For, after congratulating me and hugging me beside, and discussing what she'd give the baby, she burst out:

"Now I suppose your trip's off, so here's a suggestion. Why not take time off whenever you get the notion—meaning most especially today!"

"Oh, I think I'll stay on the job" I laughed, warming to Betty's kindness. "Neal's apartment is so small two's a crowd now that there's a nurse and a maid as well as a new baby—and today Jeanie's there getting acquainted with my brother."

Betty smiled and said no more. But it came over me that she and Jeanie aren't as close as they used to be. I wondered whose fault it might be—and if there were any hurt for Betty in the situation. Then I set myself resolutely to work.

I didn't want to think of Jim. I was both angry and ashamed of him. To try to reach Jim at his office was out of the question. He'd given the impression when he phoned Neal that he was busy at work. To telephone would seem like spying.

An Angry Retort

Late in the afternoon Jim came strolling into my office. Since he avoids the place grimly it was the more astonishing to have him drop in so informally. And I couldn't keep a certain amount of irony out of my voice as I asked how he came to honor us. His reply was good-natured:

"Child alive, I came to call for you. You've a date to chaperone me when I pay my first call on Miss Hyland. And I'm taking the father of our niece out to dinner. Have you forgotten that?"

I looked at Jim with a detachment I've never before felt where he's concerned, as I asked bitterly:

"Arn't you even—ashamed of yourself?"

"Are you going to start preaching?" demanded Jim angrily. Then with a noticeable effort, he achieved good nature again.

"Don't make a fuss, Anne. I'm not an admirer of—kindergartens and never was. But I'll try to do the attentive if you steer me right. When you see the rose tree I sent along you'll agree that I haven't treated the baby so badly. And I thought we might start a bank account for her. I'll give my niece five hundred and Jeanie—no doubt will do the same. And if you and Pat want to assert your independence and contribute separately, we won't argue. Now I ask you—what could be fairer?"

He pinched my cheek payfully. But I couldn't respond. I wanted to know about the taxi which had avoided us so carefully. And I couldn't bring myself to ask. Jim wouldn't lie to me, that I knew. But since he volunteered no explanation, I couldn't question him. And so, with this between us, urgent and unexplained, we started off for Neal's.

Jim made it his business to be charming—frist to me as we drove across the city, then to Neal and Jeanie, who were amiably engaged in domestic details when we reached the apartment. Neal was too happy to be in any way exacting, and though Jeanie was a little cold and distant at first, even she presently yielded to the natural charm which Jim has in such abundance. But my heart seemed locked in ice. It thawed a little when Jim asked with quiet concern:

"Have you everything you want, young Neal? Plenty of cash on hand? Because if you were caught without time to run to the bank, here's brother Jim. I brought a roll of bills along just for luck. Would have been up earlier but I've been errand-boying all over the place today. First I bought Anne tickets for a vacation trip. Then I got the agency to take 'em back and opened an account for Miss Hyland."

Neal threw back his head with the dear boyish fervor that is so much part of him and he cried warmly:

"Jim, your heart's in the right place! I don't need a cent, but I'd ask any of you—bricks—if I did. But in the name of Miss Hyland, I vote you some uncle."

A Gracious Act

Jeanie was biting her lips. I could see that the arrogant streak in her nature had been crossed. While Jim was protesting that what he'd done was only natural and Neal was shaking both his hands, she managed to keep silent, but after a moment or two she said:

"Of course Pat will do as much as you did, Jim."

DRAWN BY NELL BRINKLEY

THE HE MAN

SHE FLEW WITH HIM TO THE JUNGLE

By George Agnew Chamberlain

"DEAR, lovely, vile and sullen person," MacCloster's voice was saying, "who would have thought it? Who would have imagined that you, a Helen among women, possessed of beauty, youth and a really lovely evening frock, should have had to come so far for a man! Cheer up! You've found two: one dung-hill bantam and—and me."

He laughed, not silently and still not quite aloud. It was an extraordinary sound. It awoke in Andrea a chord of memory. It was not the stereotyped laughter of the stage; it was more specialized than that. Then she remembered. His was not the laugh of an individual: it was the clipped, staccato, maddeningly deliberate, "Ha! Ha! Ha!—Ha! Ha! Ha" of a chorus and conspirators in the Ballo in Maschera.

Looked Into His Eyes

"I ask you, who could have imagined it?" he continued; then, his voice thickening to a sinister intensity, he added, "I could, damn your soft carcass. Women! Fair women! Ha! Ha! Ha! Dreams of fair women! Garrr! Spawn of hell! Pestilence that sleep by day and lurk in the shadows of night and wine! Damnation of the filthy byways of the world, parading in the sweet likeness of God!"

Andrea suddenly looked up, straight into his blazing eyes. "You yourself are speaking," she said in a clear voice. "I am a woman, weak, miserable—never so miserable as in this awful night—but I'm not a coward. I can forgive not you but what you say, for you cried out just now from a hell infinitely deeper than mine."

The blaze of light in MacCloster's eyes died to a brooding glow. There was something in Andrea's face, some illumination of the clean soul within her, that spoke with a sure voice, louder, more persuasively than words. He answered the valiant spirit that had not feared to rise to meet his own revelation.

"The gifts that women may bring in their hands," he said with a whispering sigh, "love, tenderness and honor, rest to the anchored soul! I, MacCloster, had the world at my feet for a single night. Drunk with adulation, drunk with wine, I went out to seek the gifts that women bring in their hands." His voice dropped to a bitter, half-flippant note of self-mocking. "Smallpox and worse in a single night. Ha! Ha! Ha!"

The laugh rang out full-throated, thunderous, terrible for the freight of rage that it carried. It rolled and echoed across the silent night like the roar of a stricken lion. Scarcely had it died to stillness when to Andrea's ears came a clear command, calm as the voice of an executioner, "Lie down, Andrea."

Before she could quite obey a rifle spoke, there was the "phut!" of a bullet as a patch of MasCloster's shirt leaped suddenly, weirdly, from his shoulder into the air. Instantly he leaned down and with one hand picked up Andrea lightly and held her suspended between himself and the shore. "One more, Trevor! you lousy bantam!" he bellowed. "One more to save me the trouble of wringing the neck of your little chicken!"

Fired Another Shot

As he finished speaking, Trevor shot again. A look of vacant surprise passed over the face of the punter nearest to Andrea. He crumpled up, sank as though all his bones had suddenly melted and fell, face down, to the bottom of the boat. His pole, released, slid with a swift swish into the water. MacCloster promptly placed her on the seat beside him and gave a calm order to the remaining punters who had paused in terror. He stood up, tok the tiller between the tremendous calves of his legs and proceeded to fill and light a pipe. "You see?" he said quietly. "He won't shoot again. How do I know? I'll tell you."

ABOUT YOUR BEAUTY

—By Maria Jeritza—

THE time of year has come when more than at any other season we live out-of-doors. The mild air, the beauty of the country and vacation plans all help to bring about this result, which inevitably is beneficial.

Direct contact with sunshine and fresh air is wonderfully invigorating and refreshing.

But there is one drawback to all the fun and benefit that go with life in the open. We soon find ourselves becoming discolored—disfigured if you look at the matter in that light—by tan or freckles or sunburn, possibly by all three.

Tan is the least troublesome of these Summer problems. In fact, tan is so fashionable just now that it can hardly be called a problem, but rather an added attraction to the appearance of a beautiful woman.

Freckles, however, are generally more or less of an annoyance to the girl who is subject to them. She imagines that they destroy her beauty, for sometimes she is teased about them.

Sunburn is rather pretty the first day, when it adds a becoming flush to our faces, but by the second or third day it is neither attractive nor comfortable, for it generally causes painful blisters, which vanish only to peel off.

The best remedy for all of these blemishes, as for most of the ills of life, is prevention.

And the best prevention in this case is a good coat of cold cream, rubbed well into your skin, then rubbed off and followed—if you like—by a light dusting of talcum or other simple powder.

As soon as you come home from your exposure to the sunshine, rub lemon juice into your skin, then remove it with more cold cream, for it is too acid to leave long on your skin.

FURNITURE IN HOME

—By Marian Moore—

GOOD taste prohibits family photographs in the living room, but the living room's loss is the sleeping room's gain.

Here is a walnut chest of drawers in a boudoir that looks its best with three attractively framed family photographs on its waxed surface. Two brass candlesticks, with white candles, stand between the pictures, and the ensemble is topped with a larger picture of the housewife in her wedding gown.

The chest of drawers is as popular today as it was a century ago—the vogue for more and larger wardrobes in a home has not diminished the glory of chests. No matter how many dwardrobes a home contains, there is always a mysterious "something" that can only be kept in a chest of drawers. The chest illustrated has a simple molding at the base for its only decoration, and its wooden pulls are as severely plain as the square legs.

LUCKY DAY FOR LOVE

WITH the sun and Mars parallel and dominating today's planetary influence all things would seem possible. This sway gives to the mind real vision, the seers declare, and for this reason it is an excellent time for making important decisions. It is a lucky sway for problems of love as there is imparted something more than the mere glimmer of romance. The mind is open to common sense direction.

Those whose birthdate it is will not meet with much change during the coming years; affairs will proceed as usual.

MOON AND VEGETATION

By GARRETT P. SERVISS.

MANY persons engaged in farming, gardening and lumbering believe that the moon exercises a special influence over the growth of vegetation. Planting, sowing, reaping and cutting in accordance with the changing phases of the moon are, and have long been, well-known practices.

Equally old and persistent beliefs are those pertaining to the supposed influence of the moon over the weather. Many will tell you that the full moon 'eats up clouds." Many also believe that the character of the weather changes with "the change of the moon." By change of the moon—a very indefinite term since the moon is continually changing in aspect and visible shape—is apparently meant the two culminations of the continuous process of change which are reached at the full phase and the new phase.

From the time that the new moon crescent appears in the west until the full moon rounds out its shield in the east, at sunset, the moon is continually "waxing," i. e., approaching more and more to the shape of a circular disc. After the full phase the moon continually "wanes," being last seen as a crescent turned the other way, in the morning sky before sunrise. Then comes new moon again.

These tradional beliefs have almost invariably been frowned down by science. They are "mostly unfounded," wrote Professor Young—who had a kindly side for such things. Others have not hesitated to scout them unmercifully. Nevertheless, setting aside her particular effects, such as the tides, the moon does exercise slight physical influences perceptible on the earth. It is certain that she has some control over minor magnetic phenomena on our planet. And there is surely a peculiar charm in the rays, mostly subjective very likely, and yet a thing to be sworn to. "Sweet regent of the night," who would willingly dispute her power?

Don't call this pure sentimentality, for I don't believe it is. We know too much of the marvelous effects strangely arising from selective radiation. We are accustomed to say that moonlight is simply reflected sunlight, robbed of its overpowering splendor by partial absorption. But can we be quite sure that it is the whole story?

Recently experiments by an English botanist are said to have satisfied him that mustard seed when exposed to the light of the moon showed an increase of fifteen per cent. in germinative power. It occurred to him that the cause might lie in the polarization of the sunlight by reflection from the moon's surface. He then experimented with artificially polarized light and found that same increase in the feminative power of the seers that had been shown under the moonlight.

If this is so, then there may be at least the germ of a scientific explanation of the apparent potency of moonlight over vegetative processes which so many have believed in.

FLAMING YOUTH ❧ By WARNER FABIAN

The Great Reform Novel of the Year, Baring Innermost Secrets of Luxury-Loving Class

Intimately Revealing the Life of a Modern and Precocious Society Flapper

START THIS BIG, NEW STORY TODAY

Mona Fentriss, young, beautiful and the wife of a consuming engineer, has been told by her physician, Bob Osterhout, who is in love with her, that she has only a short time to live. Mona gives a gay party, telling Pat to go to bed, but the latter borrows a sister's dress, steals downstairs and has "a taste of life." Connie goes to a dance at the club and takes too much punch. She is brought home by Fred Browning, with whom she had uneventfully spent the night. Sel Thorpe gives Pat a "real" kiss. Mona dies and Constance receives a call from Cary Scott, her mother's first admirer. Scott is much taken with Pat. A party is planned for the Dangerfield's, to christen the new swimming pool. A thunder storm puts out the lights and the guests go into the water without clothes. Dee modestly hesitates on the balcony and then—the lights came on, revealing her in a blinding glare. One of the bathers is saved from drowning by Cary Scott. Pat and Cary Scott become interested in each other. Pat returns from school and declares she is "out for trouble" this time

NATIONAL CONTROL NEEDED TO SAVE RING GAME FOR U. S.

By JACK CONWAY.

[illegible]

NATIONAL CONTROL NEEDED TO SAVE THE BOXING GAME

National control is needed to put the [illegible]

[illegible]

It is unlikely that Congress would create a national boxing commission. In such an event, the Boxing Commissions of the country can save the situation by forgetting their petty jealousies and uniting in a real, whole-hearted movement to lift the boxing game up from the gutter and place it alongside of the other major sports which are kept clean by national control.

[illegible]

Baseball was on the rocks of destruction after it was revealed that members of the Chicago White Sox had sold a World's Series to the Cincinnati Reds. The national pastime faced grave disaster when the magnates buried their petty squabbles and named Judge Landis as the man to save baseball for millions of Americans.

Landis has made good as the [illegible]

FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION RULES THE GRIDIRON GAME

[illegible]

[illegible] was while every ticket for the important engagements was sold weeks before the cream of America's manhood went into battle.

If baseball, track sports and football have become national institutions [illegible] national control, why [illegible] boxing also be benefited [illegible]

Let the various Boxing Commissions send delegates to a national convention. The treasuries of the Boxing Commissions could well be used to defray the expenses of such a gathering.

The big boxing States all have commission rule. Therefore, anything decided at such a convention would be the law as far as boxing is concerned.

Crooked fighters, holdup managers and the betting gentlemen who have forced their way into the ranks of [illegible] would [illegible] they would be driven [illegible] alleyways and corners [illegible] their conniving. They [illegible] out [illegible] where their eyes would [illegible] feet grow unsteadily as they would try to look into the [illegible] of Public Opinion.

[illegible] rats carrying bubonic [illegible] upon by an outraged [illegible] would slink away to the [illegible] be forced into [illegible] of forever.

CHAMPIONS WOULD BE FORCED TO FIGHT.

Under national control our champions could be forced to fight. A title holder could be suspended all over the country if he didn't give battle with a logical opponent.

The New York Boxing Commission has made a brave attempt to force some of our champions to fight. It has suspended those title holders who have refused to meet the runner-up for the title.

The New York Commission has been hampered in its work by the fact it has no power to enforce its rulings beyond the Empire State. Furthermore, it has put itself in a ridiculous light when it has tried to remove a champion and put another man in his place. The only way a champion can lose his title is in a contest in the ring.

If there was national control of boxing, the champions would meet logical opponents rather than be suspended throughout the country. Under present conditions, if a boxer is suspended in New York, he can ferry over to New Jersey and battle before immense crowds. He isn't deprived of his means of picking up easy money in no-decision spots as would be the case if there was national control of boxing.

Every State that has boxing should also insist upon decisions being rendered [illegible] prevent burlesques.

Star boxers now often just give an act when they show in the no-decision spots. When they appear in States like Rhode Island, which have boxing but no Commission control, they also carry along their own referees in their vest pockets as it were.

Under national control it would also be possible to drive the parasites from boxing. A man convicted of a felony after a fair trial before his equals is not a fit man to be affiliated with a game which has never been above suspicion.

MORE CARE NEEDED IN GRANTING OF LICENSES.

More care should be exercised in granting licenses to boxers, managers and promoters. The second story workers and safe crackers should be forced into other fields of endeavor or placed behind the bars where they rightfully belong.

The men who have kept boxing alive despite the efforts of the crooks are entitled to some protection.

Honest, clean living boxers like Eddie Shevlin, Pal Reed, Mickey Walker, Mike Gibbons, Tom Gibbons, Nate Siegal and many more who might be mentioned should not be obliged to carry any of the stigma which goes with a sport that gives shelter to men unworthy to associate in decent society.

Purses should also be slashed.

Talk of $300,000 for Jack Dempsey fighting Tom Gibbons, a second rater, administers a body blow to boxing.

Johnny Kilbane was paid $75,000 for boxing Eugene Criqui. The latter received $25,000.

The public revolted against the high prices charged for this show. They were also disgusted at the big purses guaranteed the boxers. As a result the bout flivvered and the promoters lost $80,000.

FANS REVOLT AGAINST THE HIGH PRICES.

Jimmy Wilde was guaranteed $50,000 for his match with Pancho Villa. The prices for tickets were not as high as those for the Kilbane-Criqui tussle, when cash customers were charged $27.50 for ringside seats. But $16.50 for a ringside seat for the Wilde-Villa affair was also out of reason.

We do not believe any championship bout is worth more than $10 for a ringside seat. Most of the title affairs have been diving contests rather than honest-to-goodness battles. And one can see a first class dive at any of our beaches without cost.

Guarantees for main bouts should be limited. Let the boxers perform on a percentage basis. No club should be allowed to pay more than 50 per cent. of the gross receipts for a feature bout.

If the boxers do not attract the money into the box office, they are not entitled to a dime for their services.

Before a boxer is permitted to show in the professional ring, he should be compelled to take a course of instruction at a boxing school. The ring is not a place for brute strength and courage alone. Boxing is supposed to be a game of science. Therefore, let those who would enter the lists prepare for the contest as carefully as a football player does for the final test of the season.

Referees should be instructed to stop uneven contests. Brutality is not boxing.

WILDE-VILLA BOUT A CAVE-MAN AFFAIR.

Wilde, hopelessly beaten in two rounds, was permitted to remain in the ring until he was knocked senseless in the seventh round. Nobody with a spark of real manhood in his system could admire such a bloody, brutal scene. Of course the bout offered a fine topic for those who love heroics. A few more such happenings and there will not be any boxing in New York State.

America's boxers have ruled the ring for years. It was not until recently that the yellow man, Frenchman, Slav and other foreigners battered our ring stars into submission.

The United States still has the greatest natural athletes in the world. Our fighting men can conquer in the ring as they did at Chateau Thierry and in the Argonne.

There must me national supervision if we are to regain control of the squared arena.

Under such a state of affairs our champions would be forced to fight, logical contenders would be able to satisfy their desire to battle for a world's title, bootleggers would no longer be able to shelter themselves from prohibition agents by managing boxers, youths who showed promise in the ring would not be robbed by crooked handlers, foreign [illegible] would be met by worthy, fighting, determind opponents when they landed upon our shores.

One more America would rule the ring!

And we have enough confidence in the rank and file of the American sport fans to believe that this era will soon come to pass.

America will not be denied its full sport heritage. And one of its rights is the supremacy of the ring.

Sarazen Tells How to Play Golf

Backspin Shot Best Obtained With Right Arm

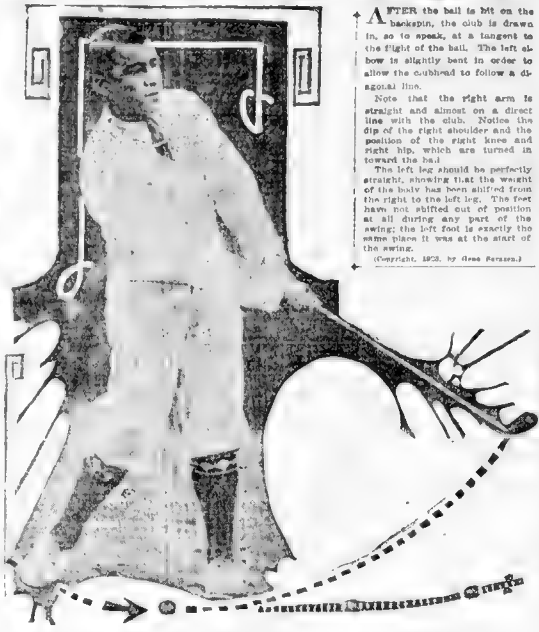

Photo diagram by Champion Gene Sarazen, showing position of club after making backspin shot, and the direction taken by the ball on its way to the cup.

AFTER the ball is hit on the backspin, the club is drawn in, so to speak, at a tangent to the flight of the ball. The left elbow is slightly bent in order to allow the clubhead to follow a diagonal line.

Note that the right arm is straight and almost on a direct line with the club. Notice the dip of the right shoulder and the position of the right knee and right hip, which are turned in toward the ball.

The left leg should be perfectly straight, showing that the weight of the body has been shifted from the right to the left leg. The feet have not shifted out of position at all during any part of the swing; the left foot is exactly the same place it was at the start of the swing.

YALE DEFEATS PRINCETON, 5 TO 2

New York, June 27—Yale defeated Princeton, 5 to 2, in the deciding game for the Big Three College baseball championship, at the Yankee stadium.

The Elis played a much smarter game than the Tigers and excelled in batting, nine hits to four.

The fielding by both teams was superb. The only error was made by Hawkes, Yale's shortstop, in the ninth inning. Hawkes immediately afterward started a double play that wound up the contest in a burst of glory and exultant shouts by the New Haven contingent.

Pond pitched great ball for Yale. Berg was the only Tiger who made two hits. Berg, in fact, was the star on the Princeton team. He played a brilliant all-round game. Caldwell, of the Tigers, was a star in right field.

O'Hearn for Yale was, with the exception of Pond, the classiest performer of his team. In five times at bat he hit safely four times. It was his single in the third inning that sent in two runs and gave Yale its start towards victory.

Carney was in the box for the Tigers and in the early stages of the game was somewhat wild.

Oed, Yale's center fielder, made the best catch in the game. This was in the eighth inning with the basses filled. Smith drove the ball to deep centre. Oed made his catch while running sideways and then threw the ball to second base and completed a double play.

Jeffries, who was on third, scored the Tigers' second run on the sacrifice fly of Smith, the double play not being made until Jeffries had crossed the plate. There was some doubt that Jeffries' run would count, but it was so scored.

GIANTS BEAT PHILS ON FIVE RUN RALLY

New York, June 27.—A five run rally by the Giants in the eighth inning gave them a 6 to 3 verdict over the Phillies and the world's champions' eighth straight victory.

A triple by Stengel, who was a pinch hitter for Jackson, with two men on base, was a feature of a batting rally.

It was the final game of the series and the Phillies have yet to win a game from the Giants.

All the Phils' scores were made on home runs by Parkinson, Tierney and Henline.

Lafayettes Going on High

Augustine Wiseman and Edward Conley

Another one of the star ball clubs among the vacation league is the Lafayette Club of South Boston. They are skipping about the sand lots on their days off, battling with all 13-year-old teams. They have beaten such teams as the St. Josephs of Malden and the Lakewood B. B. C. The two most promising stars on the nine today are Edward Conley and Augustine Wiseman.

Teams wishing to book games with the Lafayette nine write Augustine Wiseman, No. 324 Third street, South Boston; tel. 1859-M.

DUTCH BRANDT HAS BEEN JINX FOR PEPPER MARTIN

Dutch Brandt, who battles Pepper Martin at the big open air show of the Granite A. A. at the Fore River grounds on Friday night appears to have the "number" of the runner-up for the world's junior lightweight title.

Martin, while able to knock out the Ordinary opposition, cannot clear the Brandt hurdle. When these boys last met Brandt won the decision after ten rounds of hurricane fighting.

Over in Brooklyn it is said that Brandt is a much better ring general than Martin. This is probably why he is able to outsmart the Johnny Keyes entry.

There is tremendous interest in the frolic between Martin and Brandt on Friday night. Naturally South Shore fans will root for Martin, as he started his surge for fistic glory at Quincy. He won sixteen bouts at the old Coliseum A. A. He later went to New York and became a national figure in the fistic game.

Martin, a terrific puncher, will make a mighty effort to win from Brandt by a knockout.

There will also be three eights. George Allen of Malden, former New England amateur champion, will meet Joe Pangraze of West Quincy; Jimmy Smith of Brockton will oppose Bert Skillett of Quincy, while Kid Lambert of Berlin, N. H., will mingle with Louis Ramsey of Weymouth.

Reservations may be secured at Room 21 Adams building. Preparations have been made for parking 1,000 autos at the grounds, which are on the direct road to Nantasket.

LAWRENCE DEFEATS THE REVERE CASEYS

Lawrence, June 27.—The Revere K. of C. went down to defeat before the Lawrence Independents, 9-3, in an exhibition game.

Tyler of the Independents was practically invincible. The second inning was the only frame in which the visitors found him to any extent.

Burke's two home runs in the first and third innings were the features of the game. His second homer won the gme.

AL DAVIDSON SHUTS OUT THE WARE TEAM

Graniteville, June 27.— Al Davidson, for Abbott Worsted, shut out Ware Town team at Abbott Park, 2 to 0. Ware got only four hits off Davidson, and he had eleven strike-outs.

TRAISER'S FILLY WINS TROT STAKE

By GUS DALY

Cherry [illegible] Three [illegible] stakes [illegible] the [illegible] year-old trot, are down for a decision at Cherry Park, Avon, today. The fields are large and well balanced, the fast pace especially so.

Tuesday's racing was of a grand circuit flavor. A mile by Junior Hal in the 2.15 pace in 2.08¼ was the feature of the day's sport.

C. H. Traiser of Boston had the pleasure of seeing his fine two-year-old filly, Vivian Sunshine, beat a smart field of youngsters in the trotting stake.

The Old "Bull" of the woods, Bill Sharen, just did tramp on a classy bunch of trotters in the 2.09 event.

Peter Coley, the high priced racer in Billy Crozer's stable, did not race in a manner justifying the figure paid for him.

A heavy downpour of rain during the afternoon necessitated a postponement of the card after Junior Hal had grabbed the second heat of the 2.15 pace with his fast mile, 2.08¼, the best of the Bay State Circuit so far this season.

LAWRENCE KNIGHTS BEAT PHIL GIANTS

Lawrence, June 27.—Two home runs were the deciding factors in the win of the Lawrence K. of C. over the Philadelphia (Colored) Giants, who were beaten 4-3.

The Dorchester team is made up of interscholastic stars with such players at Martin, Locke, Harrell, Calkins and Finnigan of Boston Latin in the line-up.

Converse is strengthened by the acquisition of "Unk" Gilligan and Bjorkman of Dartmouth, and is bound to give opposition to any of the teams in the State.

CAMBRIDGE GIRL LOSES AT TENNIS

Inside Tips on How to Correct Errors in the Selection of Tubes

By THE RADIO EDITOR

The tube is the [illegible] set.

One of the fre[illegible] causes of poor reception is [illegible] wrong kind of [illegible] a[illegible] panying table [illegible] errors in the se[illegible] of tubes.

Note, for instance, that a WD 1[illegible] make a poor tube for a r[illegible] frequency amplifier. If you [illegible] such a tube because of [illegible] vantage of using dry cells [illegible] ing the filament, you are [illegible] poor results. [illegible]

The use of UV [illegible] R. F. amplifier [illegible] unsatisfactory results [illegible] with UV [illegible] frequency [illegible] is banned for [illegible] also [illegible] UV 201 A [illegible] tend to oscillate too readily.

Hambone May Have Gone on Sick Leave to Avoid Pat

It is all bunk about the sphynx being the most silent bird in the world.

Hambone Kelly, self-confessed kayo king, has won this title as a result of his repeated refusals to say whether he is game enough to enter a ring with Pat McCarthy of Roxbury.

There once was a time when Hambone was around our fair town clamoring for matches. But since McCarthy asserted he was prepared to knock out Kelly inside of five rounds the South Boston warrior has gone on sick leave.

Smile at These

By Nat N. Dorfman.

A HISTORIAN has figured out that it cost Columbus only $6,342 to discover America, which seems quite probable, since Columbus didn't have to live here after he found it.

The world's greatest optimist has been located in Boston. He was caught counterfeiting Russian rubles.

The long distance dance record has been broken three times in one week in New York, and yet there are those who claim we are a race of busy people.

HYSTERICAL NOTE

Perhaps another reason why George Washington never told a lie was because nobody ever asked him how many he could make on a gallon.

SOME BOOBS THINK

That all drug stores carry drugs only as a side line.

That everything they read in the magazines about their favorite screen stars is pure press agent bunk.

That Laddie Boy is the envy of every dog in America.

That a grass widow can win a man's heart much quicker than a girl who's never been wed.

That a king's life in Europe is on cinch.

That all Congressmen talk too much.

PHIL OSSIFY SAYS:

Some people are given credit for a lot of things the dealer should have insisted on cash for.

Congress is no longer in session and a lot of people will be hard up for some humorous reading until it convenes again.

Some people aren't happy until they get an automobile, and then they can't be happy until they manage to get rid of it.

That foreign lecturers come here for the sole purpose of getting our money.

That they can write better stories for the movies than are now produced.

And the funny part of it is, they're darn near right!

The hand that rocked the cradle,
And put the child to bed.
Now swings a wicked golf club
And keeps the score instead!

IT'S STRANGE HOW—

Some men's idea of rising to an emergency is to rise long enough to turn off the alarm clock so they can go back to sleep again.

According to a fashion decree, skirts will be worn much longer this season. And now that the new high-price wool schedule is in effect, pants will have to be worn much longer, too.

The Tower of Babel must have been the place where King Solomon kept his thousand wives.

They've introduced lady taxi drivers in New York and now a lot of wives who couldn't see why their husband used to take their cars down to the office with them, are the strongest supporters of the idea.

SOCIAL ERRORS

Asking your father how much he is going to leave you in his will.

Taking your bulldog to the movies.

Telling a girl you like her because she reminds you of an old sweetheart.

Asking a policeman to take a hand in the poker game.

Telling your wife how much you won on the races.

Slapping your boss on the back.

Medbury Says—

By John P. Medbury

A LOS ANGELES man claims he can photograph the thoughts in a human being's mind. It's getting so that a person doesn't have a bit of privacy any more.

YOU'RE afraid to think anything bad about the people next door for fear some guy will come along and take a picture of it.

YOU could photograph some minds and get arrested for taking obscene pictures.

BUT of course there are a lot of minds that you could take snap shots of all day and get nothing but blank negatives.

IT won't be long before a man will be afraid to think.

WITH spiritualists and cameras prying into our minds, it's no wonder that some men are afraid to take their hats off.

THERE'S no doubt about this Los Angeles man being correct. If we can take pictures through steel we ought to be able to photograph through bone.

THIS fellow photographed the thoughts of a married woman the other day. He got a picture of her mind and her husband's, all in one.

THE husband was able to think, but he didn't dare.

FOR years when a woman has had a picture taken she's always put rouge and powder on, now she'll even have to make up her mind.

ONE dame was having a photograph taken of her thoughts and changed her mind right in the middle of the picture.

WHEN the photographer developed the plate it showed her wondering how her hair looked and where her husband was.

IF he could have snap-shotted her husband he'd have got a picture of him wondering if his breath smelled of gin and if his wife were home.

IT'S certainly going too far when a man's thoughts are open to the public.

IT'S getting to that we can't even have a private opinion.

WE'VE got to think nice things of our neighbors for fear he'll photograph our mind and find out what we really think of him.

YOU might be standing on the corner thinking of what you'd like to do to your mother-in-law and have a cop step up and arrest you.

WITH all these new experiment going on, the only people who are safe are those whose minds are a blank.

YOUR OWN DETERMINATION CAN FURNISH YOUR SCHOOLING.

Well, as long as you were not born and reared under as fortunate circumstances as some others you know, the only thing for you to do is to make it up to yourself by work and study.

You think it unfortunate that you could not go to school as long as some of your friends, but you will gain nothing by sitting down to mourn.

Make an effort to overcome the obstacles.

The better education you have the better chance you are going to have, the greater the brain and mind discipline.

You can study by yourself, can you not? It is hard, of course. Harder than it is in the regular class room.

But it is not impossible for you to get as good, possibly better, preparation than many a boy who does go to college and who dawdles.

There are a lot of fellows who do not appreciate their privileges. There are a lot of teachers who are poorly prepared.

Always there are disadvantages and adverse circumstances.

But remember that these outside misfortunes in your educational career can be largely offset by your own determination to get to the bottom of everything you study.

French Leave

Hale: "When I lived in Chicago I stayed at four different boarding houses, and in each case the landlady almost wept when I left."

Hardy: "You must have been quite popular, eh?"

Fresh 1923 Lows Are Numerous as Weak Tone Continues in Stock Market

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

—By B. C. Forbes—

A shower of dividends has been falling upon stockholders of industrial companies.

No fewer than one hundred and thirty-four industrial corporations have in the last two months announced cheerful dividend news.

Thirty-five companies have increased their dividends.

Thirty-three companies have made extra cash payments.

Nineteen companies have announced initial dividends.

Sixteen companies have resumed dividend disbursements.

Twelve companies have paid back dividends.

* * *

This combined with the twenty better payments by transportation companies reported in this column last week, is probably the greatest aggregation of favorable dividend announcements ever made within the space of two months.

* * *

Not only does this reflect very notable improvement in the earnings and the financial position of these concerns, but it means that the income of hundreds of thousands of stockholders is being increased, thus expanding their purchasing power from now on.

This is a consideration which should not be overlooked by those who are at present disposed to take a pessimistic view of the general business outlook.

* * *

Instead of commenting further on this wonderful dividend showing, it will be more convincing, more impressive, and more informative to present a detailed list of the better dividend announcements, since a glance at the tables will drive home how varied and how widespread geographically are the companies that have been able to take favorable dividend action.

CARRIERS SOLD ON REPORTS OF PAY DEMANDS

Fresh 1923 lows were numerous today with a continuance of the weak tone in the New York stock market. Money renewed at 5½ per cent. Carriers were freely sold on reports workers were in demand increases in pay.

New year's lows came in New Haven, 'Frisco, Chesapeake & Ohio, Norfolk & Western, Northern Pacific, Texas & Pacific, Union Pacific, Lehigher Valley, Chicago & Northwestern, American Beet Sugar, Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies common and preferred, Mathieson Alkali, International Nickel, International Paper, Goodrich, International Cement, Atlas Tack, Ajax, American Safety Razor, Virginia-Carolina Chemical, American Agricultural Chemical, Phillips Petroleum, Republic Steel, Vanadium and U. S. Rubber.

EQUIPMENTS STRONG.

Equipments were strong, Baldwin Locomotive gaining 2 points and American Locomotive lifting 1⅝ at 134⅝.

Davison Chemical, Studebaker, General Electric and Gulf States Steel all gained a point or better.

Losses of a point or more showed in American Smelting, Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies, Continental Can, Lehigh Valley, Corn Products, Great Northern pfd., International Paper, Northern Pacific, Pere Marquette, Reynold Tobacco "B" and U. S. Rubber.

Union Pacific lost 3 at 128. Mack Truck softened 2¾ at 68½.

NICKEL PLATE PAYS.

Nickel Plate declared a dividend of 3 per cent. on the new common stock and a dividend of 3 per cent. on we cumulative preferred, both payable July 15 to stock of record July 7.

This preferred dividend represents the accumulation from Jan. 1, 1923.

Dividends are payable to stockholders of record of full shares of the new company and to certificates of deposit holders of the constituent companies.

Earnings available for dividends in the first five months of 1923 will show dividends on both classes of stock for the full year more than covered.

French francs opened .0611 c, off .0001½. This is the lowest since March and a new low on the present movement.

Wall St. Gossip

PUBLIC service Corporation of N. J. reports increase of $2.44 per cent. in sales of household appliances by gas and electric subsidiaries for first five months of 1923, compared with like period of last year.

WARREN Sugar Refining Co. is taking business for prompt shipment at 9.50 cents, a reduction of 40 points.

CONTINUING firmness in call money is laid to impending July 1 settlements and past Wall Street unsettlements.

RAILROADS will show greatest earnings in history for the first half of 1923. If stocks are to be bought, market observers agree, rails should figure prominently.

CONSOLIDATED Gas has just issued a very exhaustive defence of its opposition to the dollar gas bill.

BROOKLYN City Railroad May surplus after charges and taxes was $249,538, against $253,160 a year ago.

CHICAGO Great Western May net operating income was $149,122, against deficit of $54,210 a year ago.

INTERESTS connected with proposed absorption of Steel & Tube Co. of America by Youngstown Sheet & Tube are going ahead with their plans.

PRESIDENT HOLDEN of Burlington says: "We are handling a very heavy traffic, and I see no signs of any let-up."

STUDEBAKER has been bearing the brunt of attacks intended to depress the market, but falling off in values in a bear market ought to cause no great amount of surprise.

Secure Best Advice Before Investing Your Money

Before investing your money, or continuing to risk it in the stock market, you should seek the best advice. Use caution. Many people have bought stocks, although knowing their banker idsapproved of the issues they secured, only to find out later, of course, that their banker was right.

It is always timely to repeat the old advice to "look before you leap." Send your inquiries on stocks, with stamped, self-addressed envelope, to Frank H. Meloon, financial editor of the Boston American, No. 80 Summer street, Boston.

TWEEDY WANTS TO PROTECT PUBLIC

New York, June 27.—Laurance Tweedy, successor to William S. Silkworth as president of the Consolidated Stock Exchange, today assumed active charge with the promise that he would institute various reforms to protect the public.

Mr. Tweedy declared that to his knowledge firms holding membership in the exchange were now doing a "clean, straight commission business." He asserted that events of the past year "will never occur again."

Meanwhile District Attorney Banton and United States Attorney Hayward, who yesterday formed an alliance to prosecute suspected bucketeers, continued to delve into cases of brokerage houses under investigation.

COTTON FUTURES PRICES MIXED

New York, June 27.—Cotton futures were irregular today with prices from 9 points higher to 8 points lower. July was in good demand, scoring a small gain, but the improvement was not shared by the new crop months which were under slight pressure, due to favorable weather news.

July sold at 27.10, up 9; October at 24.88, unchanged; December at 24.30, off 8; and January at 24.50, off 2.

Banker Lays Lower Stock Market to 'Mob Psychology'

"Someone cried 'Boo!' in Wall street, the panicky mob rushed for the exits and a lot of innocent people were hurt," Francis H. Sisson, vice-president of the Guaranty Trust Company, says in commenting on the recent nervous reaction in the financial district.

Mob psychology, rather than economic reasons, was responsible for the unsettlement that resulted, the banker said. Business and industrial conditions, though quiet, are fundamentally sound, Mr. Sisson declared.

PART OUTPUT AIDS AUTO MAKERS

Automotive Industries will say this week:

"Orders placed with parts makers promise a continuance of capacity operation in many of the unit producing plants for a month more at least, earlier indications that there would be signs of a lull after the first of June with a more pronounced drop begining with July not being borne out. Production has shown an exceptionally well sustained upward curve covering an unusually long period. Makers are now exerting all efforts toward maintaining deliveries at the mark warranted by the present pressure from car and truck producers.

August may see a change in the direction of the curve, but the decline in parts production is not expected to show itself before then, unless there comes a general slowing up in demand for cars and trucks.

While car manufacturers take a prominent place in the high operations of the parts branch of the industry, truck builders are probably a more important factor in enabling schedules to be kept at a high mark.

PRODUCTION IS FOUND STILL HEAVY

Production and shipment of general merchandise and manufactures continued heavy volume during May and the first half of June. A summary of general business and financial conditions first made public by the Federal Reserve Board also revealed that the sustained high level of production had been reflected in the volume of employment and in many instances advances in wages.

Wholesale commodity prices declined to some extent in the six weeks ending June 15, the reduction being carried in some lines into the retail trade, and the holdings of bankers' acceptances and government securities by the reserve banks were shown to be lower than at any time in more than a year.

Production of iron and steel, cement and petroleum was larger in May than in any previous month and the rate of production was reported continuing in the early weeks of June. Mill consumption of cotton was close to a maximum in the same period.

A further decline in the value of building permits granted in the principal cities was cited in the summary, but awards of contracts, representing actual undertakings, rather than prospective operations, increased in most cities.

Slight increases in employment have accompanied the industrial activity in most lines, according to the board's reports. The advances were most marked, however, in the cotton, steel, meat packing and sugar refining industries.

The condition of both Winter and Spring wheat was regarded as less favorable than a year ago, but the cotton crop as a whole was said to be in a better situation than at this time last year, due chiefly to favorable growing conditions in Texas.

Active distribution of commodities was reflected in the heavy movement of merchandise and miscellaneous freight by the transportation lines. Car loadings continued in the period covered by the summary to exceed all previous seasonal records.

Boston Notes

ACADIA Mill of Lawrence will close June 29 because of poor business conditions, re-opening July 9.

UNITED States Trust Co. has declared regular semi-annual dividend of $8 per share and an extra of $2, both to stock of record June 26.

BROOKLINE Trust Co. has declared regular quarterly dividend of $3 a share, payable to stock of record June 26.

CAMBRIDGE will receive proposals until July 2, for purchase of $400,000 loan, maturing November 15, 1923.

OLD DOMINION'S property to east, contiguous to Arizona Commercial's rich ore discoveries, is being opened up down to 1900-foot level.

NEW England Pin Co. is running its Winsted, Ct., plant nine hours in a season when 10-hour schedule is usually maintained.

NEW Haven Clock Co. reports plant operating at about 80 per cent. of capacity and looks for resumption of heavy buying by public in Fall.

MAYFLOWER'S present drifts in both levels are in mineralized ground. Copper in bottom level opening is fine and well distributed, while that in 1450-foot level drift is small mass.

MAGNA Copper's fair shipments of first-class ore and concentrates are being maintained to Hayden smelter of American Smelting & Refining.

RUMORS of North Butte impending financing may have arisen from fact that company has outstanding 430,000 shares of its total authorized capital of 600,000 shares of $15 par.

10,000 BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE TO MEET HERE

Mayor Curley will welcome the ten thousand members of the Baptist Young People of America when they assemble in convention in Tremont Temple and Symphony Hall, July 4-8.

This is the first time in its thirty-eight years of organization that this body has met in this city.

Rev. M. F. Sanborn

Rev. F. W. Padelford

The Rev. W. Harry Freda, pastor of the Clarendon Street Baptist Church, will extend the greetings of the Baptist churches of Greater Boston.

Walter Marden will respond for the young people, after which the Rev. Mark F. Sanborn, president of the society and pastor of the First Baptist Church, Detroit, will give the annual address.

Rev. J. A. White

Rev. W. G. Towart

Among the interesting topics to be discussed at this convention will be an address on what can be done for the younger people to arouse their interest in the work of religion, by the Rev. James A. White of Chicago. Vacation schools will be described by the Rev. W. G. Towart, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Bennington, Vt; and education in its different aspects will be outlined by the Rev. Dr. Frank W. Padelford of New York.

The final meeting will be held in Symphony Hall, morning and evening. Other meetings will be held in Tremont Temple and Lorimer Hall.

MASTODON BONES FOUND IN ONTARIO

London, Ont., June 27.—Bones believed by Professor A. D. Robertson of Western University to be those of a mastodon which existed on this continent previous to man have been discovered by William Jones on his farm in Delaware township.

The teeth were a foot long and eighteen inches across. The tusks were eight feet long. The jawbone weighed forty pounds. In addition, the cranium, vertebrae and ribs were unearthed and efforts now are being made to reconstruct the skeleton of the monster, which, it is estimated, weighed between thirty and fifty tons.

TURKS CONSIDER DEMANDS OF U. S.

Lausanne, June 27.—American counter-proposals in regard to the details of the projected Turkish-American treaty are being considered by the Turkish experts, and a reply is expected within a day or two. The principal clauses under discussion concern the treatment of Americans in Turkey, particularly those engaged in the various professions.

PHEW—IT'S HOT!!!

That is, it was at the time this advertisement was prepared, and as if that wasn't bad enough, here are all the old bed bugs, cockroaches, fleas, ants and other darned old bugs to make matters worse. Can you beat it? I think just now I could annihilate them all with the sulphur fumes of the words I'd like to call them. You know bed bugs have a mean habit of picking out the hottest nights to perform their little biting stunts, and, say they can do a wonderful job, you just bet!

As for fleas, they're about the last word in discomfort. If you can get a few working on your anatomy just now when the temperature is sizzling, you've got enough to keep you busy for some time. The cockroaches and ants just crawl around the pantry and spoil all the food, so that no one dares or wants to eat it.

Coupled with a few good hot days, when your appetite is pretty finicky anyway, they make you feel like blowing the place up with dynamite.

But they are all so easy to get rid of that it isn't worth while wasting any more time on them.

Home Builders Are Nation Builders

Land Owners Are Land Defenders

Copyright, 1923, Star Company

The National Real Estate Convention and the "Home-Owning Exhibition" are held in Cleveland's great Convention Hall this week.

To own real estate, a piece of the earth from the top down to the centre four thousand miles below, and to build a worthy home on that land—such is the work and the proof of civilization.

For more than a hundred thousand years, in his intervals of between fighting, hunting, killing off his kind, man has concentrated on the building of his home. And in that home the women influencing the children have slowly through the centuries diminished man's brutality, increased the home's beauty, comfort and influence.

The history of man's home is his own history. He only lived in caves in the rock, like the bears, and on platforms in the trees, like the birds and monkeys.

He built his lake dwelling above the water like the beaver, dug holes in the side of the cliff and dwelt there for safety like the swallows.

He built a tent "home," which he could move with him on the back of an animal or on the back of his wife. He built palaces of marble and stone in ancient Rome, Greece and Babylon. He built castles on the hill with moats and towers. For a hundred thousand years and more the two ideas in home-building were SHELTER and SAFETY.

We have passed that primitive building and now the home-builder's thought is concentrated on beauty, comfort and harmony.

Whoever contributes to the building of a better American home helps in the building of a better and greater American nation, whether it be the architect supplying the plans, the building contractor or the skilful mechanic.

The designers, producers and distributors of better furniture, carpets, kitchen ware, plumbing, are public benefactors and contributors to civilization.

The man that adds good pictures, good books and good music to the home, when the building work is done, helps to build the nation's intellectual life and to raise the intellectual plane of the next generation.

The children are first what heredity has made them and second what environment has added to heredity.

All those that contribute to the success of Cleveland's Real Estate and Home-Owning Convention or to any home-building enterprise are useful citizens.

Whether they persuade the family head to own his own piece of the earth, which is the ONLY REAL PROPERTY, or whether they help in the building and decorating of the home after the land is bought, they are national builders and uplifters.

The power of France, her magnificent display of resistance, her vow, made good, "They shall not pass," her victory, are all based on the fact that seven million different French families OWN France.

Every man in the ranks was fighting for a HOME owned by himself, his father or his mother.

When Charles XII. of Sweden marched with his small army of determined men through the vast armies with which Peter the Great opposed him, Charles was invincible. And invincible he remained in war, until the heavy iron bullet tore him apart at the siege of Frederikshall.

Every one of the twelve or fifteen thousand men that left Sweden with him was an owner of SWEDISH SOIL. His grandfather had wisely done for the Swiss what the French revolution did for the French, and giving the country's land to the peasants, gave to the country INVINCIBLE DEFENDERS.

Men were originally long-toothed, hairy barbarians, hunted by their enemies and hunting each other. They have been slowly and partially civilized through the hundreds of centuries by the influence of women, of children and OF THE HOME.

The unit of civilization is the home centre, the Winter fire, the father on one side, the mother on the other, the children between.

Home-builders are civilization builders.

Europe Does Not Like Us

Ask Hagen, the Golf Player

Copyright, 1923, Star Company

As you consider the suggestion of a League of Nations or World Court entanglement for this country, consider also, please, Lloyd George's latest statement:

"The signs are ominous that peace has perished upon the ammunition dump.

"The next war will blot out civilization unless the world is safeguarded against it."

What is the BEST safeguard for the United States? Is it not minding our own business, and keeping free from European obligations NOW? That next war will not threaten Asia, it won't ruin JAPAN. It won't do anything but good to RUSSIA. Why? Because Japan and Russia will refuse to be made responsible in any way for what Western Europe may do.

You have read Russia's contemptuous refusal to be bound in any way by any decision of that World Court. Russia knows that the court would be automatically prejudiced against her.

That is true of Russia and it is ten times more true of the United States.

You cannot judge of European sentiment by the conversation of diplomats with their eyes on the United States Treasury. You get more accurate information elsewhere. For instance, Hagen, himself of British birth and one of the world's greatest golf players, declares that he will never again play a match in England, because while he was competing as an American representative the British crowd cheered whenever he made a mistake.

He lost the championship that he formerly held by one stroke. Any golf player can tell you that the applauding of his bad shots probably cost him the match.

Europe does not like this country, and no wise man will try to put this nation under any kind of European control, League or World Court—which would be really EUROPE'S court for the exploitation of the world.

FORM UNION OF BEGGARS IN POLAND

PARIS, June 27.—Riga dispatches tell of the convening there of all the Polish and Lithuanian beggars, who have formed a union.

Two resolutions were passed by the Beggars' Congress:

1. Limitation of "beats." Beggars established in other Polish cities must not go to Warsaw, and vice versa.
2. No gratuity less than 20 marks to be accepted by any member of the union.

Parisian beggars are reported to be considering following suit.

THE VOICE OF NEW ENGLAND

No Attention Paid to Anonymous Communications

Not a Popular Body

Editor Boston American:

Hearing its emotional advocates here rhapsodize over it, a visitor from Mars might conclude that the League of Nations and its World Court are nothing less than the entrance into the millennium.

Yet the American traveler may go from one end of Europe to the other, mix among the masses and never hear the league mentioned.

The plain fact is that the League of Nations is not a living thing in the hearts of the European nations. It is merely an affair of politicians and diplomats.

RUDOLPH HEYDNER.

Sailors on the Common

Editor Boston American:

Sunday afternoon three sailors were sitting on the Common when two policemen came up and chased them away. I was one of the jackies from the U. S. S. Bridgeport, now at the navy yard. We want to know whether the Common is not good enough for the United States uniform or whether the uniform is not good enough for the Common. We gave the cops no argument, as we did not crave a ride in the patrol wagon, so we shoved off. We would like to ask the people of Boston if they would rather have the Common or the navy in their city, as it would seem they do not want both.

Penniless Widow

Editor Helping Hand:

I hope some kind reader will respond to this request. A poor widow, left alone and penniless and aged, gets a little help, but not much. She made patch-work quilts until eight weeks ago, when she fell and broke her arm and other hand, which leaves her a cripple. She needs many things, but her great longing is for a piece of linoleum to make her front and only entrance presentable. I went to visit her last week and wish I could buy it for her, but I am a poor widow also. The piece wanted is three yards long and two yards wide, and the poor lady is Mrs. R. M. S.

MRS. J. C. 3.

Thanks to A. S.

Editor Helping Hand:

Thank you down to the bottom of my heart for the kindness you have done me. I received the check you sent me for the money sent by A. S. Wish I knew his address, so I could thank him myself. Also I want to thank Mrs. T. T. S. for the dollar she sent me. Both came in handy, as I got food for the Sunday dinner with one dollar and milk for the baby, who has been two days without it, with the other.

M. R. G.

Eleven in Need

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a girl of fourteen, and my mother and father are both dead, and my oldest sister takes care of me, and there are eleven of us in all. My sister wrote to you for help for us when mother died, as we did not have much furniture, so she could keep us all together. We need another bed and furniture awful bad. Won't you tell Mrs. E. M. L. about us, and maybe she would help us. You have helped us with clothes, all but my sister. She has not been lucky enough to get anything. She wears size 44. Won't you please write a letter in the paper and ask somebody if they have anything to fit her?

L. A. E.

We will tell Mrs. E. M. L. about you.

Cape and Dress

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a black cape and black dress, size 38, suitable to wear now, and a pair of black stout boots, size 5½ A, which I would like to give. Will you kindly give me the address of someone?

M. S.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. A. M. W., who wears size 38. The shoes will be held for replies.

Things for K. T.

Editor Helping Hand:

Please send me the addresses of the enclosed. I have a lot of things for K. T., who can make over clothes, and some dresses for E. G.'s two-year-old girl, and a few baby clothes and shirt waists for N. D. 2. Also send me an address of someone who could use a lot of old stockings to cut up for making carpets.

MRS. H. M. C.

The addresses you request have been sent you. The stockings will be held for replies. Thank you.

Clothes for Girl

Editor Helping Hand:

We are moving away soon and have a few clothes my girl has outgrown, among them a Winter coat large enough for a girl twelve or fourteen; also dresses, stockings and a lot of other things. Also a woman's coat and a man's black Winter coat, size 28. I will probably find other things. They are all in good condition.

MRS. F. C. F.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. B. M., who has a girl twelve, and whose husband will be grateful for the coat next Winter.

Offers Dress

Editor Helping Hand:

Will you please send me M. C.'s address, who asked for a thin dress? Perhaps I can help her. I also have three new straw hats for little boys, a blue coat for a woman size 38, and some coats that could be made into clothes for children.

R. J.

Thank you. You have been sent M. C.'s address and the address of a woman, who wears size 38, and who is caring for several grandchildren.

Angora Kittens

Editor Helping Hand:

I have two part Angora kittens that we would like to give someone without children. Also the mother cat—a full-blooded Angora, and two other plain cats.

MRS. L. R.

Things for Mrs. J. T. M.

Editor Helping Hand:

Enclosed you will find a list of articles I would like very much to send to some deserving person. If you will send me the address, I will send them parcel post prepaid, as being a working woman it is hard to regulate the hours when I will be home.

MRS. M. E. C.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. J. T. M., who is much in need of clothing of the size you mention. Her husband will greatly appreciate the coat and vest.

Other Offers

The editor wishes to express his very sincere thanks to the following people for their offers of assistance to those in need. They have been sent the addresses they request.

Mrs. M. F., Chelsea—Clothes for Mrs. D. G. and also for D. G. B. M. B., Waterville, Me.—Orders for fancy work for K. E. R. Mrs. C. L. S., Everett—Men's underwear and other things for O. E. A GENERATION OF INVENTORS IN THE MAKING

By Herbert Kaufman

HOME-SEEKERS from the Atlantic States crossed to Oregon at the rate of ten miles a day. Slow trains now cover their route in less than a week.

John Jacob Astor (who, according to a California college professor, got his start in life by discovering a cache of pirate gold) waited six months for replies from letters rushed to his trading post at Astoria by pony express riders.

Yesterday a New York man, anxious to get in immediate touch with Portland, established a telephonic communication with the other coast eight minutes after placing his call and talked over wires clearer than those between some local exchanges.

Five years from now he will establish his own wave length, turn a contact lever and in a few seconds pass the time of day with friends anywhere along the Pacific, and find nothing extraordinary in the incident.

Yet, when Morse clicked off his first message wiseacres searched for the dark gentleman in the kindling pile as vigorously as investigators now challenge the authenticity of spirit manifestations.

Schoolboys, building their own wireless sets, aren't likely to be amazed by any developments of science. What with millions of amateur radio engineers and car-educated engine experts, the present decade promises to coach all America in the fundamentals of mechanics and electricity. No wonder our patent office is working overtime recording inventions.

Carelessness Again Swings the Scythe

Unfortunately, no one to date has produced an accident preventer. Carelessness still swings a keen scythe for death. Two Brooklyn Rapid Transit cars, packed with women and children, slip from elevated tracks near the Atlantic avenue station. Seven persons are killed and scores horribly crippled. Why can't the ingenuity which guides pilotless aeroplanes with a mere spark apply the same force to railroads?

Laboratories that produce 2,000,000-volt synthetic lightning bolts, gyroscopes, star-weighing machines and microbe counters, are surely able to improve upon brake and signal systems, practically unchanged since Hall and Westinghouse gave them to the world.

When juries properly penalize penny-pinching corporations for the use of uninspected and obsolete equipment, national and urban transportation systems will promptly choose the lesser of two evils and spend a dollar on improving safety devices to avoid paying through negligence verdicts. Capital is an economist, not a humanitarian. The balance sheet runs business.

Less than twenty years ago John Willys was selling bicycles at retail. This week he celebrates the manufacture of his millionth automobile.

Ask him for the formula of success and he will tell you to discover a popular need, mix it with printers' ink and reliability, then repeat the prescription in constantly increased doses.

Post-war depression found the Willys company overstocked and pressed for funds. Every available dollar went back to its cradle—advertising.

The place to make more money is where you found it last. Dominant concerns are never out of print. It's the in-and-outers who fall by the wayside.

Three hundred and ninety-three thousand machines is America's score for May—one hundred and thirty-eight thousand more than a year ago.

Railway traffic managers lick their chops at the figures. More than a hundred thousand freight cars will be required to transport all these motor vehicles.

Thus one arm of transportation works for the benefit of another. Progress takes care of all her servants.

New York will spend $20,000,000 more than originally calculated for structures completed within the next six months.

Some workers are now paid 264 per cent. more than in 1903.

House shorers receiving $2.75 then, draw $10 and work several hours less per day.

Anthracite miners, meeting at Shamokin, ask raises ranging up to 20 per cent., demand three shifts and a closed shop. Dreams of cheaper fuel hereby disappear up the chimney.

Contrast such pay with the incomes of university graduates.

The American Medical Association, concluding its session at San Francisco, watches with deep concern the rise of living costs and recommends guarantees of at least $2,500 a year for country doctors.

Prosperity isn't whistling very loud for professional folk.

Topsy-Turvy Taxation

Senator Reed of Pennsylvania also speaks for the white-collar group as opposed to the lily-handed class.

Physicians, authors, lawyers, engineers, all men whose fortunes are in their heads, and therefore steadily depreciated by time, bear the brunt of income taxes and have none of the reliefs afforded merchants, farmers, factory owners or investors.

No allowance is made for their obsolescencing mental machinery, but wearing cogs and wheels, brick and stone, are all subject to deductions.

Inheritors of estimates may purchase exempt securities and take advantage of Federal clauses which reduce their assessments of ten cents on the dollar.

A Caruso, though, must write a $500 check and mail it to Washington whenever he sings, and a surgeon, after devoting half his career to study and struggle, once he does start to enjoy a profitable practice, frequently finds the Treasury Department a half partner of his fees.

The fiscal program of this republic couldn't be worse if they were written in topsy-turvy land.

The great problems of tomorrow are all for trained intelligence.

Legislation should provide subsidies, not clubs for thinkers.

An experimenting brain has just saved Louisiana $2,500 a mile on her roads. Laboratory knowledge advises her to use low grade iron ore at ten cents a yard instead of clays and gravel at a dollar.

Chemists combining chalk, sawmill refuse and preservations, literally drag from waste heaps a synthetic lumber which may be sawed, bored, finished and polished. It defies moisture, resists decay and arrives at a moment of perilous shortage in raw materials.

And we reward thinkers of that sort by confiscating the bulk of their salaries.
